Graduates.

Mr. Sever, whose death is recorded below, had been the oldest living graduate since January 11, 1887, the date of the death of Dr. William Perry, of Exeter, N. H. In the Bulletin for January, 1887, it was stated that Dr. Perry had been the oldest graduate since the death of Joseph Head of the class of 1804 in 1882. This was incorrect; Mr. Head was succeeded as senior alumnus by William Thomas, of Plymouth, Mass., class of 1807, who died 30 September, 1882. It is worthy of note that Mr. Thomas attended Commencement in 1882. Thus Plymouth has been twice in succession the residence of the oldest graduate of Harvard.

Dr. William Goddard, of the class of 1815, now residing at Charlestown, is the senior alumnus, and also the oldest graduate of the Medical School (1820), as well as the sole survivor of both his classes. He was born at Portsmouth, N. H., 22 April, 1796.

- 1742. Hall, Harper, b. 7 October, 1721, at Barbadoes, W. I.; d. at Barbadoes, and was buried there 22 May, 1750, aged 37.

NOTE. — By the kind permission of Dr. GODDARD I am enabled to print the letter which he wrote upon learning that he was the senior alumnus.

MY DEAR SIR: Your polite and kind letter of Oct. 15th, informing me that I am the oldest surviving graduate of Harvard College and Medical School, is received. This I was somewhat surprised to learn. In answer to your inquiry I will say I was born in Portsmouth, N. H., April 22d, 1796. My brother, Rev. Warren Goddard, of Boston, of the Class of 1818, and myself, are the only surviving members of a family of twelve children. My brother was born in Sept., 1800. Nearly five years ago I suffered from a severe attack of rheumatism which has confined me to my room and mostly to my bed ever since, and has so crippled my fingers that I cannot write legibly without great effort; therefore I cannot give you an autographic letter but one by dictation only. My faculties, I think, are not much impaired, but this long confinement has so reduced my strength that I am now extremely weak and probably cannot continue a great while longer, for which continuance I am not anxious for my own sake, as I have no fear of death. I have not yet seen a copy of the anniversary exercises held last year, nor a copy of the last Quinquennial Catalogue of 1885, both of which, if not inconvenient to you, I should be pleased to have sent me. Thanking you for your friendly congratulations, I am, with much regard,

Yours truly,

CHARLESTOWN, Oct. 17th, 1887.

WM. GODDARD.

"Annotazione. Questo sì è il primo letterario lavoro, uscito dalla penna dell' autore. In dieci giorni fu composto e stampato. Nello improvvisamente comparire al giorno si mosse il vespaio de' sciolelli serapuntini a scriverne contro con brusca parola. Altri, meno furiosi, favorarono siffatto novello ritrovamento. Parlò alla fine il Giornale della Biblioteca italiana in Milano consigliando i tipografi nelle ristampe della Divina commedia a incalmar nelle chiose la rinvenuta investigazione di que' due danteschi versi orientamento foggianti. Di fatti senza ritardo fu recitata nella tragante impressione che allora se ne faceva a Firenze e in più altre dappoi. Il Catelacci, che pubblicava la sua latina versione in quel tempo, tradusse il primo verso:

"Fulgida sint Salane, Satane sint principis ora:" e il secondo: "Tolle meum decus in barathro cui fuisit in orbe."

Ora questa dissertazione è d'assai rammendata e allargata, nè tarderà a ricomparire fra gli illustri letterati vestita con più dicevole concinnità. Roma. 8 ottobre, 1863. Michelangelo Lanci."

"Di questa stampa volea farsi editore Pier Francesco Giambullari (di cui è l'importantissima dedizione a Michelangelo Buonarroti); ma, attesa la morte del Giambullari, ne prese cura Cosimo Bartoli, che altra dedizione vi aggiunse al duca Cosimo II." Gamba, Serie dei testi, no. 1454.

Giambullari made considerable additions to the work. See pp. 75, 124.

The book is in the form of a dialogue between Giambullari, Gelli, Cosimo Bartoli and Lorenzo Pasquali, and is directed at Pietro Bembo, Bern. Tomitano, Giov. della Casa and other detractors of Dante.

Miscellaneous. 1. "The Relaçon of David Ingram in travelinge by lande [from] the baye of Mexico [to] Cape Britton, in August and September, A<sup>o</sup>. Dñi, 1582. Copied in 1841 from British Museum mss. Additional, 1447. fol. 1." Sparks says: "Many parts of the following narrative are incredible, so much so as to throw a distrust over the whole, yet it is not improbable that the two sailors passed through the interior of the country and found a French vessel somewhere on the gulf of St. Lawrence. See Hakluyt's Voyages, vol. iii. p. 487. . . . See the relations of Hortop and Phillips in Hakluyt, iii. 462; in the old folio edition, vol. ii. pp. 469, 487. Hortop says that 96 sailors were left on shore. He and Phillips were of the number. They were taken prisoners and sent to Mexico, where they were retained many years."

2. "Inducements to the lykinge of the voyage . . . to America, copied in 1841 from British Mus. mss. additional, 1447, fol. 12."

3. "A true answer to a writing by Capt. Nath. Butler intituled The unmasked face of our Colonie in Virginia, . . . 1622. Copied in 1841 from Brit. Mus. mss. additional, 1039, fol. 90."

4. "A Journal from Virginia beyond the Appalachians Mountains in Sept<sup>r</sup> 1671, sent to the Royal Society by Mr. Claxton, and read Aug. 1, 1688, before the said Society. Copied in 1841 from Brit. Mus. mss. additional, 4432, fol. 27. (See Beverley, p. 62, with Claxton's letter, Aug. 17, 1688.)"

5. "Remarks on the [preceding] Journal of Batts and Iallam in their discovery of the western parts of Virginia in 1671, by John Mitchell, M.D., F.R.S. Copied in 1841 from Brit. Mus. mss. additional, 4432, fol. 6." The paper mentions that "in the year 1678, a party of people from New England discovered all these western parts of America to the northward of Virginia as far as the Mississippi, and a great way beyond it, which discovery of the English gave occasion to the discovery of the same parts two years afterwards by

Mr. La Salle, for the Indians, who were with the English and served them as guides in this discovery, went to Canada upon their return and gave an account of these discoveries to the French." Sparks adds in a note: "No authentic account of this expedition of a party of New England people has ever been discovered."

6. "An abstract of the lawes of New England. Copied in 1841 from the Brit. Mus. mss. Additional, 3448, fol. 17." Sparks adds: "Printed in 1641; reprinted in the 5th volume of the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society."

7. "A relation concernyng the Estate of New England. i. the country; ii. the comodities; iii. the inhabitants. [Date about 1637.] Copied in 1841 from the Brit. Mus. mss. additional, 3448, fol. 1."

8. "Mr. Charles Lodwick, his acct. of New York . . . dated from New York, May 20, 1692. Read before the Royal Society, Nov. 26, 1713. Copied in 1841 from Brit. Mus. additional mss., 3339, art. 252."

XXXI.

[This stands in the Catalogue of 1871 as "Miscellaneous Papers, unbound." It does not seem to be in the collection.]

XXXII.

"Miscellaneous particulars and copies from manuscripts examined in London and Paris, 1828-29. Vol. I. and II."

VOL. I. "The extracts, translated from the Correspondence of Vergennes, Gérard, and Luzerne, are taken from the originals in the Public Offices in Paris. Other extracts are from the originals in the public offices of London. Many of the particulars concerning the war were communicated to me by Lafayette at Lagrange; Nov. 1828."

Extracts from Gérard begin Sep. 24, 1778; from Luzerne, Oct. 1779. There are also extracts from Marbois.

"In the French archives Mr. Jorelle showed me the volume of the private accounts for the Court and ministry for the year 1778. Among other things was entered the price of the snuff-boxes which were given to our Commissioners who signed the treaties:

"The box given to Deane, 6040 fr. = $1148.

"The box given to A. Lee, 3440 fr. = 654.

"This gift of a snuff-box I am told is uniformly given to all signers of treaties in France."

A letter of Luzerne, May 13, 1781, describes his relations with Gen. Sullivan on lending him money, 68 guineas every six months, and the ready acceptance.

Extracts of letters from Vergennes to Luzerne and to Gérard.

"Secret convention between France and Spain, by which Spain agrees to enter into the war against England, signed at Paris, Ap. 12, 1779. This convention was never printed." "I read it in the Archives des Affaires Etrangères on the 29th Oct. 1828. The following is the substance of its articles, which I committed to writing immediately after reading the Convention, not being permitted to copy it in detail. [I have since obtained a copy of it.]"

Mission of Baron De Kalb to America, in 1768. [From mss. in the Dépôt de la Guerre, Paris.]

Soulés' History, 1787. In 1788, when two volumes were finished, the author applied to the French ministry and to Rochambeau for materials. It would appear from correspondence in the War Dept. in Paris that Sir Henry Clinton and others in England favored him with materials. Rochambeau writes, after reading the first two volumes in manuscript, to the ministry in commendation of them. The minister of war read them, suggested some changes, and approved their publication. Rochambeau asked the minister to permit him to furnish material. The request was granted on the condition that Rochambeau should not furnish his correspondence in detail. Rochambeau furnished two mémoires, which being corrected by the minister, were submitted to M. Soulés. "These circumstances," adds Mr. Sparks, "render it probable that his work is very authentic and accurate in the facts it contains; but such a process would naturally render it deficient in some important particulars, which the minister and the general might not wish to see stated in their exact proportions."

"[I passed two or three weeks with Lafayette at LaGrange in Nov. 1828. The articles which follow and to which his name is attached are the substance of his conversations with me at different times.] The conversations of Lafayette concerned Arnold, Count Donop, Schuyler, Lafayette in England, Louis XVI., the Barbary States, Washington, Gouverneur Morris, Jefferson, Mignet and Thiers, the French and Spanish expedition against Jamaica, Lafayette in Madrid, Conway, Lafayette's early life, Burgoyne's army, Arnold's plot and the execution of André, Lafayette in Paris, Langborn (aid to Lafayette in the Virginia campaign), Lafayette at Petersburg, Lafayette's negro spy in his campaign against Cornwallis, Rivington's Gazette, Dr. Franklin, Cornwallis and Greene, the soldier Morgan who as Lafayette's spy enlisted in Cornwallis' army, Lord Rawdon a prisoner, the Port of Dunkirk, opinions of the French Court, Lafayette in Russia, Gen. Nelson of Virginia, Lauzun, etc.

General Lafayette. [The following narrative was dictated to me by General Lafayette at La-grange in the month of Nov. 1828. I have not written out all the particulars, because he has given me a copy of a written narrative embracing the same period, that is, the chief events of his life during the American Revolution. The following sketches are to be taken in connection with the narrative here mentioned.] The narrative follows. After describing the way in which he was induced to join the Americans, the principal headings of the narrative are: Arrival in Philadelphia; Brandywine; affair at Gloucester; proposed attack on Canada; affair of Barren Hill; General Lee and Monmouth [the facts here stated are printed in Sparks' Washington, v. 552]; Voyage to France; Versailles; Virginia Campaign; Siege of Yorktown; Col. Barber: Capitulation of Cornwallis.

Col. Pickering on Washington, 1828.

Franklin and Lafayette on the names of the latter's children.

Fontane's Eulogy on Washington.

Conway's cabal. [Extract from a ms. at La-grange.]

Lord Holland on Louis XIV. (1829) and on Lord North.

"The following extracts were copied from the originals in the Public Offices in London, 1828." These are mainly from letters of Dartmouth and Germaine to Howe, Clinton, and Cornwallis.

The headings are: Troops from Russia, 1775; Expedition to the Southern States; Foreign troops; Offer of pardon; Exchange of prisoners, 1776; Provincials, 1777; Hessians; Gen. Lee; Mistaken views; Burgoyne; treaty with France, 1778; Georgia and Carolina, 1779; Allowances to loyalists; Pardon to criminals; Proposed expedition against New England; Tryon's incursion into Connecticut; Camden, 1780; Indians; intelligence from America; French Squadron; Maj. André; Arnold's plot; Germaine's letter to Arnold; Loyalists, 1781; an Expiring Cause; South Carolina; prisoners enlisted for the West India service; Vermont.

A second class of extracts covers: Gage to Dartmouth, 1774, Nov. 2, 15; 1775, Jan. 18; Feb. 17, Mar. 4, Expedition to Salem; May 15; June 12 (use of Indians); June 25 (Bunker Hill); July 24; Aug. 20 and 26 (rebellion of long standing); Sept. 20, (petition of Congress to the King); Oct. 7, 15.

Howe to Dartmouth, 1775, Nov. 30; 1776, Jan. 16.

Dartmouth to Gage, 1775, Jan. 27; Apr. 15, offer of pardon; July 1.

Dartmouth to Howe, 1775, Sept. 5.

Col. Smith to Gage on the Lexington expedition, Apr. 22, 1775; and Percy's letter of Apr. 20, as to the scalping of British soldiers.

Joseph Warren, Watertown, May 17, 1775, to John Scollay, being a letter captured by Gage, and giving him and the British government to whom it was transmitted, their first intelligence of the capture of Ticonderoga.

Gov. Martin to Gage, May 26, 1775, on No. Carolina affairs.

Capt. Foy at Stade, Mar. 8, 1776, writes of the Brunswick troops that they are capable of all the service which may be required of them.

Howe to Germaine, Dec. 29, 1776 (on Trenton); Jan. 5, 1777 (on Princeton); Jan. 20 (critical state of affairs).

Germaine to Clinton, Mar. 8, 1778; Mar. 21 (war with France).

The King's instructions to Clinton, Mar. 21, 1778.

Maj. John Butler, July 8, 1778, to Col. Bolton on the attack on Wyoming.

F. B. The reports of the botanist here given form parts of general reports made to the Regents by the Curator of the State Museum. The report for each year is transmitted to the Legislature and afterwards published. The reports of the botanist include plants of all orders, although the greater portion relates to fungi. With exceptions noted below, the reports are all arranged on the following plan: An introduction, giving statistics of species mentioned, followed by general remarks not quoted here, except in cases where fungi are specially noted; a list of species of which specimens have been mounted, not quoted here; a list of plants collected, ages where fungi are named given here; a list of specimens obtained by contribution and exchange, not given here; a list of species growing spontaneously in the State, and not previously reported, with localities, habitats, and descriptions of new species, fungi given here; new stations of rare plants, remarkable varieties and observations, not given here, except a few cases of special interest; followed in some reports by special reports, synopses of difficult genera, etc., given here. The separate copies of the reports distributed by the botanist have the original paging.

Of the first edition of this sumptuous work only 100 copies were printed, and each copy was numbered. A second edition was afterwards issued same as the first in all respects, except that there is another preface. The date of issue of second edition is uncertain. The title-page bears the date 1853, but the preface of second edition is dated June, 1862. Probably the 1853 of title-page should be 1863. This work includes descriptions of American genera of Bosc and Schweinitz, as Arachnion, Hyperhiza, etc.

First volume includes Erysiphei, the second Phylactiet, Valsei, and Sphaeriet, and the third Nectriet Phacidiet, and Pestiet. This classic work does not treat specially of American fungi, but there are many critical notes and references to species of this country scattered through the text.

653. Catalogue of the United States plants in the Department of Agriculture.

The above is the title of a very rare pamphlet found in a few libraries. It has no value except as a literary and botanical curiosity. The author was at one time employed as botanist at the United States Agricultural Department, and prepared a list of plants, pp. 27, which was distributed as a circular, but was never printed in any government publication. It is said to have been suppressed in consequence of the very numerous errors it contains. On pp. 26, 27 is a list of 72 fungi, apparently from Missouri, 31 of them said to be new species. There is no title-page, and the date, which is not printed but written, is Nov. 1, 1866.

CORRIGENDUM.

In place of the note following title no. 174, substitute the following title:—

174<sup>a</sup>. Icones Fungorum hucusque cognitorum. Abbildungen der pilze und schwaemme. f<sup>o</sup>. Vol. I.-VI. Prague. 1837-1854.

A work with figures and descriptions of many species of fungi. Vol. VI., published after Corda's death, was edited by J. B. Zobel, and contains a small number of species from North America. A considerable part of the edition of the first five volumes was destroyed in the great fire at Prague, and complete sets of the original edition are now very rare. The remaining copies of vol. VI. were purchased by R. Friedlaender & Sohn, of Berlin, who have reproduced the first five volumes by photo-lithography, and most copies now offered for sale have only the sixth volume of the original edition.

"Excell<sup>t</sup> letters of the fine old Duke's dictation,—very physiognomic of the chief man in his time and country. Nothing like him extant now in France or here! (1856.)"—ms. note on p. 83.

The library has another copy, mounted in folio. 3581.6

[Beneckendorf, Karl Friedrich.] Charakterzüge aus dem leben könig Friedrich Wilhelm I., nebst verschiedenen anecdoten. 9 samml. in 3 vol. Berlin. 1787-89. 16°. Carl. 148

With ms. memoranda; also the autograph "T. Carlyle, 1855" in each vol.

Berenhorst, Georg Heinrich von. Betrachtungen über die kriegskunst, über ihre fortschritte, ihre widersprüche, und ihre zuverlässigkeit. Nebst zwei anhängen. 3<sup>e</sup> aufl. Leipzig. 1827. 8°. Carl. 110

With ms. memoranda by Carlyle. Presented to him by Count von Usedom.

"His book is full of a certain talent, & real opulence of mind; but is defaced by sediments of imperfect moral qualities (pride, anger, vainglory too traceable in it, tho' well vanished over), which considerably pervert (as one may well see) the conclusions he arrives at, and render his judgments in all cases uncertain as to their coincidence with the truth of the thing, or their resilience therefrom, if too hateful a thing! Scepticism (in war itself, much more on all other 'arts' & subjects), this, with a dash of revolutionary sentimentalism, may be described as the result he has finally come to. (Note of March 1857, while pretty well on with reading his Book.)"—ms. note on fly-leaf.

Bielfeld, Jakob Friedrich, freiherr von. Lettres familières et autres. 2<sup>e</sup> éd., revue, augmentée, & corrigée. 2 tom. Leide. 1767. 8°. Carl. 170

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1856 (from A. Gilchrist)"; also ms. memoranda and marginal notes.

"His Book (Lettres Familières et autres), all turning on Friedrich, which came out in 1763, at the height of Friedrich's fame, and was much read, is still freely cited by Historians as an Authority. But the reading of a few pages sufficiently intimates that these 'Letters' never can have gone through a terrestrial Post-office; that they are an afterthought, composed from vague memory and imagination. Not to be cited 'freely' at all, but sparingly and under conditions. They abound in small errors, in misdates, mistakes; small fictions even, and impossible pretensions:—foolish mortal, to write down his bit of knowledge in that form!" Frederick the Great, ii. 426.

The library has also the English translation of tom. ii., 1768, 2 vol. 14564.8

iv<sup>er</sup> theil has the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1859"; v<sup>er</sup>, "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1854."

"Vol. v., — wholly occupied with Friedrich II. King of Prussia, is accessible in French and other languages; many details, and (as Büsching's wont is) few or none not authentic, are to be found in it; a very great secret spleen against Friedrich is also traceable, — for which the Doctor may have had his reasons, not obligatory upon readers of the Doctor. The truth is, Friedrich never took the least special notice of him: merely employed and promoted him, when expedient for both parties; and he really was a man of considerable worth, in an extremely crude form." Frederick the Great, i. 269 n.

Of this work, the translator of Frederick's "Military instructions," 1762, himself an English officer, says: —

"Capt. Faucitt, of the guards, obliged us, some time ago, with a translation of the King of Prussia's Regulations for the discipline of his army: but those Regulations . . . can only be considered as the rudiments of the art of war, and therefore it is difficult to suppose, that so sublime a genius, as his present Prussian Majesty, could possibly waste his time in composing them. He certainly did not. The Regulations were originally the work of his father, who was an excellent Adjutant, and who, tho' a man of no genius at all, by the discipline of his troops, laid the foundation of his son's greatness." Military instructions, pp. x-xi.

"By a distracted Dr. Fuchs of those parts." — Note on fly-leaf.

"The latest and notabest of these [accounts], in regard to Mollwitz, is the Pamphlet of a Dr. Fuchs; from which, in spite of its amazing quality, we expect to glean a serviceable item here and there. It is definable as probably the most chaotic Pamphlet ever written; and in many places, by dint of uncorrected printing, bad grammar, bad spelling, bad sense, and in short, of intrinsic darkness in so vivacious a humour, it has become abstruse as Sanscrit; and really is a sharp test of what knowledge you otherwise have on the subject. Might perhaps be used in that way, by the Examining Military Boards, in Prussia and elsewhere, if no other use lie in it? Fuchs's own contributions, mere ignorance, folly and credulity, are not worth interpreting; but he has printed, and in the same abstruse form, one or two curious Parish Manuscripts, particularly a 'History' of this War, privately jotted down by the then Schoolmaster of Mollwitz, a good simple accurate old fellow-creature; through whose eyes it is here and there worth while to look." Frederick the Great, iii. 197.

Voted, to appoint DUREN JAMES HENDERSON WARD, Ph.D., Librarian of the Divinity School for 1887-88.

Voted, to appoint JAMES GRAY LATHROP Assistant in Physical Training for three years from September 1, 1887.

Voted, to appoint ARTHUR BLISS SEYMOUR, S.M., Assistant in the Cryptogamic Herbarium for 1887-88.

Voted, to authorize the Treasurer to employ Mr. EDGAR PARKER to paint a portrait of the late E. PRICE GREENLEAF, from photographs or such other material as may now be available.

MEETING OF OCTOBER 28, 1887. — Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mrs. HENRY DRAPER of New York, for her additional gift of one thousand dollars, received through Professor PICKERING, October 19, 1887, towards the expenses incurred at the Observatory of Harvard University on account of the Henry Draper Memorial.

Voted, to accept the resignation of Professor PICKERING as Phillips Professor of Astronomy and Professor of Geodesy, as of September 1, 1887.

Voted, to appoint as Proctor for 1887-88, OTTO RHEINHARD HANSEN, A.B.

The Treasurer reported that he had received $498.40 as an additional payment of principal for the Robert Treat Paine Fund for the Observatory. Also, $1700 as an additional payment of principal for the Daniel Treadwell Fund.

Voted, in view of the reduced rate of income from investments, that until further action by this Board, the holders of the Harris, Kirkland, and Rogers Fellowships be paid at the following rates: Harris, $500; Kirkland, $550; Rogers, $750 a year each; but the reductions hereby made shall not apply to persons now holding said Fellowships.

Voted, to proceed to the election of a Phillips Professor of Astronomy to date from September 1, 1887; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that ARTHUR SEARLE, A.M., was elected.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 14, 1887. — The President read a letter from Mr. HENRY R. A. CAREY of New York, enclosing his check for twenty-five thousand dollars, "to be used in building Fives Courts for the use of the University, especially for the Base-ball nine, either as attached to the Gymnasium or as a separate building, as the Corporation may decide"; and it was Voted, that this generous and welcome gift be gratefully accepted, and that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mr. CAREY, both for the gift itself and for the considerate manner in which he has arranged for carrying out the details of his plan so as to do the most good to the University.

The resignation of CHARLES H. WILLIAMS, A.M., M.D., as Instructor in Ophthalmology, was received and accepted.

Voted, to appoint FREDERICK EDWARD CHENEY, M.D., Instructor in Ophthalmology for the remainder of the year 1887-88.

Voted, that THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON be invited to lecture on Literature as a Profession.

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 25, 1887. — A conference was held with the Trustees under the Will of WALTER HASTINGS, concerning the immediate erection of a College Hall at Cambridge, to cost from $200,000 to $250,000.

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 28, 1887. — Voted, to appoint WILLIAM COOLIDGE LANE, A.B., Assistant Librarian.

Voted, to appoint WILLIAM HOPKINS TILLINGHAST, A.B., Assistant Librarian and Editor of the Quinquennial Catalogue.

The resignation of JOHN M. MERRIAM as Proctor was accepted.

Voted, that THOMAS CURTIS CLARKE be invited to deliver a lecture upon some engineering topic to be selected by him.

Voted, to appoint CHARLES WENDELL TOWNSEND, M.D., Assistant in Obstetrics for 1887-88.

Voted, that the title of the Professorship established June 26, 1869, be changed from that of Professorship of Palaeontology to that of Professorship of Geology.

Voted, that public notice be given, by advertising or otherwise, as follows: —

"The President and Fellows of Harvard College have been enabled by the recent bequest of EZEKIEL PRICE GREENLEAF to appropriate annually about $12,000 to reduce the general expenses necessarily incurred by undergraduates of the College in pursuing the studies required to obtain the degree of Bachelor of Arts, who are not of themselves, or with the aid of their parents, of sufficient pecuniary ability to pay for the same."

"This Price Greenleaf Aid will be distributed, until further notice, in sums of from $150 to $250 a year; and, unlike the ordinary College Scholarships, it will be given, not only to students who have already proved their merit in Harvard College, but also to undergraduates in the first year of their attendance, — that is, to Freshmen, or to persons who have been admitted to advanced standing either with or without examination. To secure aid during the first year of attendance the applicant must be strongly recommended by the college, academy or school with which he has been connected.

"Applications for aid for the academic year 1888-89 will be received until May 1st, 1888; and so far as persons not already members of the College are concerned, the award will be made not later than June 1st, 1888; the money to be payable in instalments during the year 1888-89, but only to persons who may be undergraduates at the time of payment.

"For blank forms of application, and information about necessary expenses, address FRANK BOLLES, Secretary of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass."

MEETING OF DECEMBER 12, 1887. — Voted, to proceed to the election of three Trustees of the Museum of Fine Arts, to serve for one year from January 1, 1888; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that WILLIAM GRAY, HENRY J. BIGELOW, and HENRY LEE were elected.

The President read a letter from Professor GOODALE, announcing the gift from AUGUSTUS LOWELL, Esq., to the Botanic Garden Library of the valuable and costly work entitled "Flora Javæ"; and it was Voted, that the gift be gratefully accepted, and that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mr. LOWELL therefor.

MEETING OF DECEMBER 27, 1887. — Voted, to reappoint HENRY W. TORREY, FRANCIS J. CHILD, CHARLES ELIOT NORTON, CRAWFORD H. TOY, and GEORGE L. GOODALE to be members of the Council of the Library for three years from January 1, 1888.

Voted, to appoint Professor CHARLES F. DUNBAR to be a member of the Council of the Library for three years from January 1, 1888.

Voted, to proceed to the election of a McLean Professor of Ancient and Modern History; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that SILAS MARCUS MACVANE, A.B., was elected.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

Voted, to proceed to the election of a Professor of History; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that ERNEST YOUNG, Ph.D., was elected.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

Voted, to appoint EDWARD CHANNING, Ph.D., and ALBERT BUSHNELL HART, Ph.D., Assistant Professors of History for five years from September 1, 1887.

The President reported an anonymous gift of $500, received through Professor GOODALE, towards the continuation of horticultural and botanical experiments and exhibitions in the Botanical Department, and the same was gratefully accepted.

The President presented the following communication from the Academic Council: —

"The Committee on Summer Schools having presented a report to the Academic Council, Voted, to refer the report to the Corporation, with a recommendation that the plan there proposed be adopted for the next summer, and that a committee of the Academic Council be appointed by the President to take charge of the summer courses." Whereupon it was Voted, that the President be authorized to appoint a Committee of Professors to organize Summer Schools for the year 1888, and to provide needed facilities for the students.

The President appointed as such Committee Professors SHALER (Chairman), GOODALE, CHAPLIN, and LYON, and Assistant Professor BARTLETT.

MEETING OF JANUARY 9, 1888. — The President presented letters from the Harvard Law School Association announcing a gift from that body of one thousand dollars for the purpose of increasing the instruction in constitutional law during the year 1888-89; and it was Voted, that the gift be gratefully accepted, and that the thanks of the President and Fellows therefor be sent to the Harvard Law School Association.

The President communicated a letter from WILLIAM P. WIGGIN and JAMES M. UPTON, as Trustees under the Will of JOHN COWDIN of Boston, notifying the President and Fellows that the store and land numbered 13 and 14 Charlestown Street in Boston, had become the property of the College, under the provisions of the Will of the late JOHN COWDIN, by the death of ABBIE A. COWDIN; and it was Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be transmitted to the Trustees for this welcome communication, and that ALLEN DANFORTH, Bursar, be authorized, in the place of the Treasurer, to do all acts, proper or requisite to be performed, to complete the transfer and acceptance of the estate.

The President communicated a letter from EDWARD A. SILSBEE, Esq., of Salem, offering to the College Library a manuscript of Shelley; whereupon it was Voted, that this interesting gift be gratefully accepted, and that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mr. SILSBEE therefor.

Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mrs. HENRY DRAPER of New York, for her additional gift of $1000, received through Professor PICKERING January 6, 1888, towards the expenses incurred at the Observatory of Harvard University on account of the Henry Draper Memorial.

The resignation of Assistant Professor J. LAWRENCE LAUGHLIN, to take effect at the close of the first half year in February, 1888, was received; and it was Voted, that the same be accepted.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

HARVARD NECROLOGY.

Compiled by WILLIAM HOPKINS TILLINGHAST,

Assistant Librarian,

Editor of the Quinquennial Catalogue.

*.* Graduates and Class Secretaries are requested to send to the writer class reports, both new and old, and all newspapers which contain obituaries and other notices of Harvardians. It is important to have the places of birth and death, and, in addition to the year, to have the month and day of the month.

When the place of birth or death is unknown, the place of residence at the time of entering College or of decease, if known, is given within brackets.

The figures denoting age indicate the last completed year of life.

HARVARD CENTENARIANS.

The following extracts, from an article by John T. Perry, entitled "Genuine Centenarians," in the New York Christian Advocate and the Exeter News Letter (26 March, 1886), are of interest: Harvard College, since its first Commencement in 1642, has had only four full centenarians among its graduates, about 4000 in the aggregate, who received their degrees prior to 1810. The four were Edward Augustus Holyoke, of the class of 1746; Samson Blowers, 1763; Ezra Green, 1765; Timothy Farrar, 1767. Messrs. Holyoke and Blowers passed 100 by a few months, while Dr. Green, who was Paul Jones's surgeon, and Judge Farrar, made a Doctor of Laws on completing his century, survived until nearly 102. The Rev. Nehemiah Porter, 1745, was a virtual centenarian, dying at 1820, at 99 years, 11 months, and 15 days; Paine Wingate, 1759, following pretty close after him, dying in 1838, aged 98 years and 10 months. Exclusive of the five persons above mentioned, nine graduates of Harvard have reached 95 years. One of them is still living [Dr. Perry, 1811, father of the author. He died January 11, 1887, at the age of 98.] Up to a comparatively recent period the great majority of the Harvard graduates were of New England stock, and generally representatives of the substantial middle class. The very poor did not generally go to college in former days, and there were never many rich. Under these especially favorable circumstances, we find only one graduate in a thousand reaching 100, and the proportion of these passing 95 a little more than twice as large. Yale (1st class, 1702) has had but two centenarians. Nathan Birdseye, 1736, lived to be 103 years and 5 months old. Daniel Waldo, 1788, died in 1864, aged 101 years, 10 months. Eleven graduates of Yale have lived beyond 95 and under 100. It will be observed as a curious coincidence that the Harvard centenarians graduated in groups: 1745 (counting Dr. Porter), 1746, 1763, 1765, 1767. A still more remarkable example of the same is afforded by Dartmouth College. Its centenarian and nearly centenarian graduates, for the most part, come very near each other. They include Rev. John Sawyer, 1785, who died in 1858, aged 103; Rev. Laban Ainsworth, 1778, who died in 1858, aged 100 years and some months, and who was pastor in Jaffrey, N. H., for nearly 76 years; Rev. Ethan Osborn, 1784, who died in 1858, aged 99; and Rev. Zachariah Greene, 1781, who died in 1858, aged 98. All of these were Congregational or Presbyterian ministers, were near each other in college, and all died the same year. Dr. O. P. Taylor, 1809, completed his century in December, 1884, and died early in 1885. Besides the above, at least three graduates of Dartmouth have passed 95, and yet fallen short of a century. Prof. West of Princeton informs us that none of the graduates of the College of New Jersey, founded in 1746, have reached a full hundred years.

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1850."

"An English translation; easy enough to read; but nearly without meaning, I should fear, to readers unacquainted with the scene and subject. Horst was reckoned a perfectly veracious, intelligent kind of man; but he seldom gives the least date, specification, or precise detail; and his Book reads, not like the Testimony of an Eye-witness, which it is, and valuable when you understand it; but more like some vague Forgery, compiled by a destitute inventive individual, regardless of the Ten Commandments (sparingly consulting even his file of Old Newspapers), and writing a Book which would deserve the treadmill, were there any Police in his trade!" — Frederick the Great, vi. 346.

Henckel von Donnersmark, Victor Amadeus, Graf. Militärisher nachlass. Herausgegeben von Karl Zabeler. 2<sup>e</sup> ausg. 2 theile. Leipzig. 1858. 8<sup>o</sup>. Port. and plans. Carl. 166

Presented to Carlyle by a grandson of the author, Count Leo Henckel von Donnersmark, June 22, 1869, accompanied by a letter from him, enclosing copies of five letters from Prince Henry of Prussia to the author. These letters have been placed in a cover (Carl. 166<sup>a</sup>), which contains also letters from Count von Donnersmark, Major Parry, and F. Althaus, on the Chodowiecki engraving of Frederick at Potsdam.

A marginal note of Carlyle's reads, — "By far the best of German 'Historians,' — tho' quite ... out of sight to the modern reader."

A series of plates (one for each year) exhibits in pictorial form the principal events of the successive years.

— Kurtzgefaste und gründliche teutsche reichs-historie vom anfang des teutschen reichs bis auf den badenschen frieden. Mit königlichen und kaiserlichen hand-zeichen oder monogrammatibus. Franckfurth, etc. 1737. 4°. Engrs. Carl. 75

With autograph, "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1853," and occasional notes.

"By no means Köhler's chief Book; but this too is good, and does, in a solid effective way, what it attempts. He seems to me by far the best Historical Genius the Germans have yet produced, though I do not find much mention of him in their Literary Histories and Catalogues. A man of ample learning and also of strong, cheerful human sense, and human honesty, whom it is thrice pleasant to meet with in those ghastly solitudes, populous chiefly with doleful creatures." Frederick the Great, i. 46 n.

The library has also the 1767 edition.

On the title-page of vol. i. is written "Excellent, correct Book. T. Carlyle (Chelsea 1858)," and again in the Frederick (vol. i. 282) he says "A praiseworthy, modest, highly correct Book, of its kind." Many marginal notes are added in his hand.

In vol. i. is a portrait of Frederick, under which he has written "Chodowiecki's reading of the Face (a poor copy)." Of this and other portraits of Frederick he says, —

"Pesne, an excellent artist, has painted Friedrich as Prince Royal: a beautiful young man; with moist-looking enthusiastic eyes of extraordinary brilliancy, smooth oval face; considerably resembling his mother. After which Period authentic pictures of Friedrich are sought for to little purpose. For, it seems, he never sat to any painter, in his reigning days: and the Prussian Chodowiecki,* Saxon Graff, English Cunningham had to pick up his physiognomy from the distance, intermittently as they could."

"* Pronounce Kodov-yetski, and endeavour to make some acquaintance with this 'Prussian Hogarth,' who has real worth and originality." Frederick the Great, i. 283-4.

Kriele, Johann Ludwig. Ausführliche und zuverlässige historisch-militärische beschreibung der schlacht bei Kunersdorf und Frankfurt, am 12ten august 1759. Berlin. 1801. 8°. Plan. Carl. 238

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, 1852," and ms. marginal notes.

"Kriele was subsequent Pastor in the Parish, an excellent intelligent man; has compiled in brief form, with an elaborate Chart too, a clear account of everything, in the Battle and before and after it." Frederick the Great, vi. 48 n.

Küster, Karl David. Charakterzüge des preussischen general-lieutenants von Saldern, mit bemerkungen über seine militairische thaten und über sein privatleben. Berlin. 1793. sm. 8°. Front. Carl. 181

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1859," and ms. memoranda.

"One Küster — a reliable creature reporting for us on Saldern's behalf." Frederick the Great, vi. 274.

[Kuniaczko, —, von.] Geständnisse eines oestreichischen veterans in politisch-militärischer hinsicht auf die interessantesten verhältnisse zwischen Oestreich und Preussen, während der regierung des königs Friedrichs des Zweytens; mit historischen anmerkungen. 4 theile. Contents: — i. Der tag von Kolin — ii. Der tag von Leuthen.

"A useful little compilation from many sources." Frederick the Great, v. 135 n.

Laing, David. Historical description of the altar-piece, painted in the reign of King James the Third of Scotland, belonging to Her Majesty, in the palace of Holyrood. Edinburgh. 1857. 8°. pp. 20. Vign., wdts. and plates. Carl. 90

Seems to have no connection with the Frederick books, but is bound up with other pamphlets

[La Placo, Pierre Antoine de, and others.] Anecdotes du nord, comprenant la Suède, le Danemark, la Pologne, & la Russie; depuis l'origine de ces monarchies jusqu'à présent. [By P. A. de La Placo, J. F. de La Croix and Ant. Hornot.] 4 pt. in 1 vol. Paris. 1770. sm. 8°. Carl. 52

With the autograph of Geo. Fred. Nott on the title-page.

Latrobe, Benjamin Henry. Characteristic anecdotes, and miscellaneous authentic papers, tending to illustrate the character of Frederick II., late king of Prussia. With explanatory notes and observations. London. 1788. 8°. Carl. 214

Chiefly selected from "Anekdoten und karakterzüge aus dem leben Friedrichs des Zweiten."

With occasional ms. marginal notes.

[Laveaux, Jean Charles Thibault de.] Vie de Frédéric II., roi de Prusse. Accompagnée de remarques, pièces justificatives, et d'un grand nombre d'anecdotes. Tom. i.-vi. Strasbourg, etc. 1788-89. 8°. Port. of Frederick II. and vigs. Carl. 200

Contents: — i. 1712 à 1756. 1788. — ii. 1756 à 1763. 1788. — iii. 1762 à 1768. 1788. — iv. Vie privée et littéraire. 1789.

— v. vi. Lettres sur Frédéric. Tom. i. ii. 1789.

"A worthless, now nearly forgotten book; but competent on this point [censorship of press], if on any; Laveaux (a handy fellow, fugitive Ex-Monk with fugitive Ex-Nun attached) having lived much at Berlin, always in the pamphleteering line." Frederick the Great, iii. 12 n.

The library has also another copy, tom. i. iii.-vii. 14575-3 vii. Lettres sur Frédéric. Tom. iii. — Tableau historique des deux premières années du règne de Frédéric-Guillaume II. 1789.

[—] The life of Frederick the Second. To which are added, observations, authentic documents, and a variety of anecdotes. Translated from the French. 2 vol. London. 1789. 8°. Carl. 201

Without the letters of the original French edition.

Vol. i. is imperfect: — the title-page is wanting, and one leaf (pp. 13-14) is badly torn.

"Author one Laveaux; a very loose creature: Book full of blunders and even lies." — "By Laveaux (a paltry conceited Ex-Monk &c.) full of ignorance & mendacity." — ms. notes.

Carlyle calls it "a foolish satirical hoax."

[Mauduit, Israel.] Considerations on the present German war. London. 1761. 8°. Carl. 91

"This is the famous 'Mauduit Pamphlet': first of those small stones, from the sling of Opposition not obliged to be dormant, which are now beginning to rattle on Pitt's Olym" pian Dwellingplace, — high really as Olympus, in comparison with others of the kind, but which unluckily is made of glass like the rest of them!

"Is still to be met in old Collections and on Book-stalls; but produces little save weariness to a modern reader. 'Han-over is not in real danger,' argues he; 'if the French had it, would not they, all Europe ordering them, have to give it up again?' Give it up, — gratis, or in return for Canada and Pondichery, Mauduit does not say. Which is an important omission! But Mauduits grand argument is that of expense; frightful outlay of money, aggravated by ditto mismanagement of same." Frederick the Great, vi. 264, 265.

See Reasons in support of the war in Germany, in answer to Considerations on the present German war. 1761. 8°.

"A very meritorious Book: mulum in parvo ab! Siles<sup>a</sup> matters." — ms. note on title-page.

Imperfect: — iii. 637-672 wanting.

With autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1853," and many ms. notes and additional memoranda and extracts. In the front of vol. i. is a note in Carlyle's hand on the various authors by the name of Michaelis and on this one in particular. He says, "This A. Benedict M<sup>r</sup> went from Halle as Extr Prof<sup>r</sup> of Philosophy to Göttingen (1753-56); thence to Altona, where he died, 1768, age 43. This is his principal work, — worth little;" and he has added, "This A. B<sup>r</sup> Michaelis, it farther appears, was known in Göttingen as a lover of brandy," — alas! (Busching's Autobiography, 6th vol. of Beitridge.)

[Michell, Louis.] Exposition of the motives which have determined the king (of Prussia), upon the repeated instances of his subjects trading by sea, to procure an indemnity for the losses which they have sustained by the depredations and violences of the English privateers. Fr. and Eng. London, etc. 1752. 8°. Carl. 90

Also contained in the "Controversy concerning the law of nations," printed in the "Cabinet library of scarce and celebrated tracts, vol. i. Edin. 1837."

"A good few dreary old Pamphlets of Michel's publishing (official Declaration, official Arguments, Documents, in French and English, 4to and 8vo, on this extinct subject), if you go deep into the dust-bins, can be disinterred here to this day. Tread lightly, touching only the chief summits." Frederick the Great, iv. 427.

Mirabeau, Honoré Gabriel Riquetti, comte DE. Œuvres. Tom. iii. Paris. 1821. 1. 8°. Carl. 84

Contents: — Histoire secrète de la cour de Berlin. Lettre à Frédéric-Guillaume II.

"No Gov<sup>r</sup> ever had a spy of such ability. What a sight (for France and for herself) that of such a man employed as a 'spy.' A truly grand power of insight is visible in this poor Book, — the only really genial Book (such as it is!) I have ever read on Prussia. Dim vacant twilight all the others, this blazes like noon-day. Poor Mirabeau!" — ms. note on p. 403.

On p. 246 he notes, — "A dreadfully ugly fellow; and such a flash of insight, such a fire of faculty in him withal; — enough to swallow a poor official man, or consume him to ashes!"

The book contains many more of his notes and his autograph, — T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1853."

The library has also the Paris edition of 1822.

Montalembert, Marc René, marquis DE, and others. Correspondance de M. le marquis de Montalembert, étant employé par le roi de France à l'armée suédoise, avec le marquis d'Havrincour,

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1856" in each vol., and with a few ms. marginal notes and memoranda.

"Correspondance avec &c., étant employé par le Roi de France à l'Armée Suédoise, 1757-1761 ('with the Swedish Army,' yes, and sometimes with the Russian, — and sometimes on the French Coasts, ardently fortifying against Pitt and his Descents there: — a very intelligent, industrious, observant man; still amusing to read, if one were idler), a Londres (evidently Paris)." Frederick the Great, v. 266 n.

Moser, Johann Jacob. Lebens-geschichte. [With a list of his works. Offenbach.] 1768. 16<sup>e</sup>. Carl 96

Müller, Ludwig (Christian). Kurzgefasste Beschreibung der drei schlesischen kriege zur erklärung einer kupfertafel auf welcher sechs und zwanzig schlachten abgebildet sind. Berlin 1785. 4<sup>e</sup>. pp. 103. [Plate wanting.] Carl 66

"This Müller's Book is a meritoriously brief Summary, in correct in no essential particular, and with all the Battle-Plans on one copper-plate: — Lieutenant Müller, this one; not Professor Müller alias Schottmüller by any means!" Frederick the Great, v. 314 n.

— Tableau des guerres de Frédéric le Grand, ou Plans figurés de vingt-six batailles, etc. traduit de l'allemand. Potsdam, etc. 1788. 4<sup>e</sup>. pp. 92. Plate. Carl 66

With autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1856" and many marginal notes in his hand. On the fly-leaf he writes "A Book of Considerable merit, I judge."

Neues genealogisches reichs- und staats-handbuch auf das jahr 1774. 3 theile. Frankfurt am Mayn. 1774. sm. 8<sup>e</sup>. Carl 57

Interleaved, and with many additions and notes in a German hand and others by Carlyle. On the fly-leaves of vol. ii. and iii. is his autograph, "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1856."

"A Frankfurt almanack, with many Ms. Notes; — was a sole resource in sev<sup>l</sup> cases." — Note in Ms. catalogue.

Nicolai, (Christoph) Friedrich. Anekdoten von könig Friedrich II. von Preussen, und von einigen personen, die um ihn waren. Nebst berichtigung einiger schon gedruckten anekdoten. 6 hefte in 2 vol. Berlin, etc. 1788-92. 16<sup>e</sup>. Carl 211

With a portrait of Nicolai on fly-leaf of 1st vol.

"Nicolai's Anekdoten alone are of sure authenticity; the rest, occasionally true, and often with a kind of mythic truth in them worth attending to, are otherwise of all degrees of diubety, down to the palpably false and absurd." Frederick the Great, iii. 55 n.

[—] Freymüthige anmerkungen über des ritters von Zimmermann Fragmente über Friedrich den Grossen, von einigen brandenburgischen patrioten. 2 abth. in 1 vol. Berlin, etc. 1791-92. 8<sup>e</sup>. Carl 197

With a copy of a letter from Zelter to Goethe on "Surgical inspection of F's body."

Oertel, Friedrich Maximilian. Genealogische tafeln zur staatengeschichte der germanischen und slawischen völker im neunzehnten jahrhunderte, nebst einer genealogisch-statistischen einleitung. Nebst einem bis zu ende des jahres 1846 fortgeführten nachtrag. Leipzig. [1847.] obl. 8<sup>e</sup>. Carl 55

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1854," and with copious ms. notes. On the outside of Hübner's Geneal. tabellen [Carl 60] Carlyle has written "Oertel, a continuation," goes along with this. N. b.

The library has also the 2d edition, 1857, with supplement, 1858-66, and 3d edition, 1877.

With the autograph "T. Carlyle, Chelsea, 1856," and ms. marginal notes.

Containing many letters from the Dessau archives.

"To all but strictly military people these pieces of Letters are the valuable feature of Orlich's Book; and a general reader laments that it does not all consist of such, properly elucidated and labelled into accessibility." Frederick the Great, iii. 132 n.

Pauli, Karl Friedrich. Leben grosser helden des gegenwärtigen krieges. 9 theile in 3 vol. Halle. 1739-64. 8<sup>e</sup>. Portrs., vigns. and tables. Carl 151

"Rulhière's Book has its considerable merits; but it absolutely wants those of a History; and can be recognized by no mind as an intelligible cosmic Portraiture of that chaotic Mass of Occurrences: chronology, topography, precision of detail by time and place; scene, and actors on scene, remain unintelligible. Rulhière himself knew Poland, at least had looked on it from Warsaw outwards, year after year, and knew of it what an inquiring Secretary of Legation could pick up on those terms, which perhaps, after all, is not very much. His Narrative is drowned in beautiful seas of description and reflection; has neither dates nor references; and advances at an intolerable rate of slowness; in fact, rather turns on its axis than advances; produces on you the effect of a melodious Sonata, not of a lucid and comfortably instructive History."

"Rulhière has heard the voices of rumour, knows an infinitude of events that were talked of; but has not discriminated which were the vital, which were the insignificant; treats the vital and the insignificant alike; seldom with satisfactory precision; mournfully seldom giving any date, and by no chance any voucher or authority." Frederick the Great, vii. 35, 36.

"Who this Mr. Savage was, we have no trace. Prefixed to the volume is the Portrait of a solid Gentleman of forty; gloomily polite, with ample wig and cravat, — in all likelihood some studious subaltern Diplomatist in the Succession War. His little Book is very lean and barren; but faithfully compiled, — and might have some illumination in it, where utter darkness is so prevalent. Most likely Addison picked his story of the Siege of Weinsberg (Women carrying out their Husbands on their back, — one of his best Spectators) out of this poor Book." Frederick the Great, i. 220 n.

"A considerable dreary mass of books, pamphlets, lucubrations, false all, and of no worth or of less, have accumulated on this dark subject [the Königsmark tragedy], during the last hundred-and-fifty years; nor has the process yet stopped, — as it now well might. For there have now two things occurred in regard to it. First. In the year 1847, a Swedish Professor, named Palmblad, groping about for other objects in the College Library of Lund (which is in the country of the Königsmark connexions), came upon a Box of Old Letters, — Letters unlabeled, signed only with initials, and very enigmatic till well searched into, — which have turned out to be the very Autographs of the Princess and her Königsmark; throwing of course a heretofore indisputable light on their relation. Second thing: A cautious exact old gentleman, of diplomatic habits (understood to be 'Count von Schulenburg-Klosterode of Dresden'), has, since that event, unweariedly gone into the whole matter; and has braved it everywhere, and pounded it small; sifting, with sublime patience, not only these Swedish Autographs, but the whole mass of lying books, pamphlets, hints and notices old and recent; and bringing out (truly in an intricate and thrice wearisome, but for the first time in an authentic way) what real evidence there is. In which evidence the facts, or essential fact, lie at last indisputable enough. His Book, thick Pamphlet rather, is that same Wheelbarrowful of Ahlden (Leipzig, 1852) cited above. The dreary wheelbarrowful of others I had rather not mention again; but leave Count von Schulenburg to mention and describe them, — which he does abundantly, so many as had accumulated up to that date of 1852, to the affliction more or less of same mankind." Frederick the Great, v. 22 n.

Toland, John. An account of the courts of Prussia and Hanover; sent to a minister of state in Holland. London. 1705. sm. 8°. pp. xii., 87. Carl. 94

With autograph of Carlyle, and a few marginal notes.

"Toland, a mere broken Heretic in his own country, who went thither [to the court of Prussia] once as Secretary to some Embassy (Embassy of Macclesfield's, 1701, announcing that the English Crown had fallen Hanover-wards), and was no doubt glad, poor headlong soul, to find himself a gentleman and Christian again, for the time being,—admires Hanover and Berlin very much; and looks upon, Sophie Charlotte in particular as the pink of women. Something between an earthly Queen and a divine Egeria; 'Serena' he calls her; and in his high-down fashion, is very laudatory.

"Toland's other Book ['Letters to Serena'], which has reference to her, is of didactic nature ('immortality of the soul,' 'origin of idolatry,' &c.), but with much fine pagnegric direct and oblique." Frederick the Great, i. 31, 32 n.

"Il Serassi, nella Vita del Mazzoni, fa grandi elogi di questo libro, chiamandolo un tesoro di lumi. I compilatori del Giorn. d' letter. di Parma, esaminando la seconda parte dell' opera del Mazzoni, asseriscono che in questo lavoro dimostra un' ampia cognizione degli scrittori greci e latini, ma che ebbe componendolo piuttosto la mira a dar prova di erudizione che a scrivere sopra l' arte poetica. ... Il primo libro tratta del viaggio spirituale di Dante, il secondo della questione se il poema di Dante sia una satira o una commedia, e finalmente in tutti gli altri vuol dimostrare che Dante è, da qualunque aspetto si consideri, un poeta eccellente." This letter in which the authors, who had been officially appointed to report on the most authentic portrait of Dante, express an opinion that the portrait in the Cappella del Potestà should not be attributed to Giotto, and that a miniature in the Riccardi codex 1040 gives a more authentic likeness of the Poet, was the occasion of a long discussion in the pages of the Giornale (nos. 18, 19, 20, 22, 23, 24, 29, 36, 37, 38, 42, 43), by G. #### XLV.

"British Papers relating to the American Revolution, selected from the Correspondence of the British Commanders-in-chief. Copied from the originals in the Royal Institution, London. Selected by me in Nov. 1840, London." In two folio volumes.

"Sir Guy Carleton was the last Commander-in-chief of the British army in America, during the American Revolution. The official papers of his predecessors, Sir William Howe and Sir Henry Clinton, came into his possession when he took the command. These with his own papers were taken by him to England at the time of the peace. After his death they fell into the hands of another person (Mr. Simmons, his secretary), who presented them to the Royal Institution in London. I examined them all in Nov. 1840, and made the following selection. The originals are comprised in more than forty volumes."

The selections begin with "Extracts from Gen. Gage's and Gen. Howe's orderly books. Boston, Gen. Gage's orders."

"General morning orders. Saturday, June 17, 1775, etc. The last order is Mar. 14, 1776.

*.* Howe's orderly book has been printed by B. F. Stevens, with an introduction by E. E. Hale, but it has not been published.

XLIX.

"Miscellaneous Papers collected from various sources, relating chiefly to the Revolution." In three vols.

Vol. I. 1. Statement of Dr. Benjamin Church, dated "From my prison in Cambridge, Nov. 1, 1775." "A true copy from the original by Samuel Eliot, junr" (p. 1).

2. Col. John E. Howard's account of the battle of Germantown, with a rude ms. plan, addressed to Col. Timothy Pickering, and dated "Baltimore, Jan. 29, 1827." "The preceding copy is in Col. Howard's handwriting and was given to me by him in Baltimore soon after it was written" (p. 13).

3. Memorandum respecting Gen. Conway's cabal with General Gates against the military character of General Washington. Signed by Robert Troup, New York, 26 Oct. 1827. "The preceding account was given to me by Col. Troup, with whom I conversed on the subject of it" (p. 20).

4. Information of Mr. Paca and Mr. W. H. Drayton respecting Mr. Arthur Lee, laid on the table and read, Apr. 30, 1779 (pp. 23 and 24).

5. Report of a Committee concerning Deane and Arthur Lee, signed Wm. Carmichael, Philadelphia, May 8, 1779 (p. 25).

6. A printed brochure. American Annals; or Hints and Queries for Parlement [sic] men, 1775-1778. "Printed at the private press of George Allan, at Darlington, for his friend Thomas Pennant." "Presented to me by O. Rich, Esq., in London, 1840" (p. 27).

7. Gen. Armstrong's letters, concerning the Northern Campaign (1777), Gates and Wayne (p. 31). Dated at Red Hook, Oct. 13, 1831; Dec. 4; Apr. 19, 1832; July 8; Nov. 23; Dec. 26; Jan. 17, 1833; May 19; Aug. 22; Sept. 10; June 24, 1834; Mar. 13, 1835; May 5, 1835; Mar. 6, 1836; July 24, 1837; July 16, 1842. They are all addressed to Mr. Sparks, who writes in the last, "Gen. Armstrong died a few months after this letter was written."

8. Copies of the [two] Newburgh Addresses, furnished to me by the author of them, Gen. John Armstrong, Jan. 1837. Letter of Gen. Armstrong, Jan. 12, 1837, affirming that they were "from the original drafts" (p. 64).

9. Account of Kosciuszko, sent to me by Gen. Armstrong, 1837. "Written by Gen. Armstrong, Aug. 1837," with a letter from Armstrong to Sparks, dated Red Hook, Aug. 1837 (p. 69).

10. Reasons against evacuating New York, 1776, by Brig. Gen. Geo. Clinton, with a letter by Gen. Armstrong appertaining, dated Red Hook, Dec. 14, 1834 (p. 75).

11. John Dickinson's draft of instructions to Commissioners (apparently not adopted) (p. 78). Rough draft with erasures and signed "John Dickinson, July 22, 1779."

12. Papers relating to a proposed reconciliation between England and the United States, June, 1778. Copied from the originals in the Archives des Affaires étrangères, Paris, 1829 (p. 84).

"The author of the following letter and papers was unknown. They were all sent in one packet to Dr. Franklin, who then resided at Passy. The name Charles De Weissenstein affixed to the letter was assumed, and although the letter is dated at Bruxelles, yet Dr. Franklin was convinced that the writer was actually in Paris and that he was a secret agent for the British ministry. He wrote an answer accordingly, dated July 1, 1778, which is one of the most remarkable of Dr. Franklin's compositions. He sent the original papers and a copy of his answer to Count de Vergennes, by whom they were deposited in the Archives, where they have been preserved. The originals are written in a disguised hand-writing, with occasional interlineations in a different hand, so that more than one person was acquainted with the contents. Dr. Franklin attached some degree of importance to these papers, because he believed them to have been seen and approved by the British ministry."

"See Franklin's answer in the Diplomatic Correspondence of the Revolution, iii. 45."

The envelope is addressed: "To Dr. Benjamin Franklin, &c. &c. &c. Secret and confidential. Read this in private and before you look at the other papers; but don't be imprudent enough to let any one see it, before you have considered it thoroughly."

The letter is dated Bruxelles, June 16, 1778. It is accompanied by "Articles of Arrangement" and a "Great Outline of the future government of North America."

13. Articles copied from the Philadelphia newspapers, relating to public affairs, 1779-1781,—some of them written by Gouverneur Morris (pp. 108-155).

14. Papers relating to Arnold and André, used in writing the Life of Arnold, 1834 (pp. 156-227.) Letter dated Crown Point, June 13, 1775 (original).

FROM THE RECORDS OF THE CORPORATION.

MEETING OF JANUARY 30, 1888. — Mr. ADAMS reported the receipt of $75,000 from the Administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. ELLEN GURNEY, to be held subject to the trusts and annuities stated in the ninth clause of her Will.

Voted, to appoint JOHN HENRY GRAY, A.B., Instructor in Political Economy for the year 1887-88.

MEETING OF FEBRUARY 27, 1888. — Voted, that the additional gift of $50 from the Dante Society, for the purchase of works relating to Dante, be gratefully accepted, and that the Treasurer be requested to make suitable acknowledgment therefor.

The Treasurer reported the annual gift of $500 from an anonymous friend, to increase the salary of the Professor of Entomology.

The Treasurer reported that he had received, as the final instalment of the residuary bequest of the late FRANCIS E. PARKER, one hundred and ten shares of the stock of the Boston & Albany R. R. Co., and the sum of $684.71 in cash.

Voted, to appoint as Proctor for 1887-88, STEPHEN ARNOLD BAILEY, A.B.

Voted, to appoint the following Instructors for 1887-88: FREDERIC CESAR SUMICHRIST, in French; FRANCIS ELLINGWOOD ABBOT, Ph.D., in Philosophy; JOSEPH LYBRAND MARKLEY, A.M., in Mathematics; EUGENE HOWARD BABBIT, A.B., in German.

Voted, to proceed to the election of a Rumford Professor; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that JOHN TROWBRIDGE, S.D., was elected.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers, that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

MEETING OF MARCH 12, 1888. — The Treasurer read a communication from a Committee of the Harvard Dental Alumni Association, reporting subscriptions from graduates of the Dental School, to be applied towards the immediate wants of the School; it was thereupon Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to each subscriber, and that the name of each subscriber be entered upon the Donation Book of the College.

Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mrs. HENRY DRAPER of New York, for her additional gift of $1000, received through Professor PICKERING, March 3, 1888, towards the expenses at the Observatory of Harvard University, on account of the Draper Memorial.

Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent through Professor CHAPLIN to Mr. JOHN C. WAIT, Instructor in Surveying and Drawing, for the valuable map of the property of Harvard College in the vicinity of Harvard Square, which he and his students have made for use in the office of the Corporation.

Voted, that the accounts of the University for the current year shall be made up to July 31, instead of August 31, and that hereafter, until further order of this Board, the financial year of the University shall begin on August 1 and end on July 31.

The resignation of DANIEL T. HINCKLEY as Superintendent of the Bussey Farm, to take effect on March 31, was received and accepted.

Voted, to appoint MARSHALL SWALLOW, Superintendent of the Bussey Farm, from April 1, 1888.

The death of Professor ASA GRAY on the 30th of January deprived the University of one of its most eminent professors and most valued benefactors.

His independence, integrity, and singleness of mind set an example both to students and teachers.

His indefatigable industry and capacity for labor, maintained throughout a long life, enabled him to achieve distinction in many fields; he was eminent alike as a scientific collector, investigator, author, critic, and philosopher. His leadership among American botanists during many years past was of greatest benefit to the University.

Finally, the invaluable Herbarium of the botanical department is a lasting fruit of his daily labor through forty-six years of service as Fisher Professor of Natural History, and it is to receive under his Will the whole product of his copyrights.

The President and Fellows desire to record their admiration for his mental and moral qualities, their pride in his achievements, and their gratitude for his services and gifts.

In the untimely death of Professor ERNEST YOUNG on the 2d instant, the President and Fellows have to lament the loss of a thorough scholar and inspiring teacher, who, having risen by force of conspicuous merits through all the grades of the College service, had just attained at an unusually early age a full professorship.

MEETING OF MARCH 26, 1888. — Voted, that the final payment on account of salaries for the year ending August 31, 1888, be made on July 31, 1888, and that such payment shall be in full for all services that may be due to the College for the month of August ensuing; and like anticipation of the last quarter's salary shall be made in each year hereafter, until further order of this Board.

The President, at the request of Mrs. GRAY as Executrix of Dr. ASA GRAY, announced the bequest of Dr. GRAY to the College, as follows:—

"I give and devise unto the President and Fellows of Harvard College, in trust, to aid in the support of the Gray Herbarium of Harvard University, all my copyrights of books of which I am the author, upon the condition and obligation that the said President and Fellows shall make proper provision for the renewal and extension of these copyrights by new editions, continuations, and supplements, such as may be needed in the study of botany and as may best enhance and prolong the pecuniary value of this bequest."

And it was thereupon Voted, that Dr. GRAY's bequest be gratefully accepted upon the terms named in his Will, and that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mrs. GRAY for the kind manner in which she has given notice of the bequest to the Corporation.

Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent through Professor GOODALE to Professor W. T. THISTLETON-DYER, Director, for the case of valuable specimens illustrating vegetable products, just received from the Museum of the Royal Gardens at Kew.

The resignation of Proctor MARLAND C. HOBBS was accepted.

Voted, to appoint as Proctor for 1887-88, CHARLES TOWNE BILLINGS, A.B.

Voted, to appoint BARRETT WENDELL, A.B., Assistant Professor of English for five years from September 1, 1888.

The Treasurer reported that he had received $69,800.61 by additional payments on account of Mrs. GURNEY's bequest; and it was Voted, to establish the Gurney Fund, which shall be credited with all the sums heretofore received and that may hereafter be received in accordance with Mrs. GURNEY's Will, and to add the income thereof to the principal until further order of this Board.

Voted, to proceed to the election of a Fisher Professor of Natural History; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that GEORGE LINCOLN GOODALE, A.M., M.D., was elected.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers, that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

MEETING OF APRIL 9, 1888. — Voted, to appoint EDWIN HERBERT HALL, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Physics for five years from September 1, 1888.

Voted, to reappoint the following gentlemen as Preachers to the University for the year 1888-89: PHILLIPS BROOKS, D.D.; ALEXANDER MCKENZIE, D.D.; GEORGE ANGLIER GORDON, A.B.

Voted, to appoint the following gentlemen as Preachers to the University for the year 1888-89. WILLIAM LAWRENCE, A.B., D.B.; THEODORE CHICKERING WILLIAMS, A.B., D.B.

Voted, to appoint HEMAN WHITE CHAPLIN, A.M., Lecturer on Criminal Law for the year 1888-89.

Voted, to appoint as Proctor for 1887-88, CLARENCE WALTER AYER, A.B.

Voted, to amend the Statute of the University numbered 3 by adding at the end of the first paragraph thereof the following words:—

"The Treasurer of the College may from time to time, and for periods of time while he holds the office, nominate a Deputy Treasurer, who, if appointed by the Corporation and confirmed by the Overseers, shall have such of the powers and perform such of the duties of the Treasurer as the Corporation shall think fit, except the powers and duties of the Treasurer as a member of the Corporation and of the Board of Overseers. A Deputy Treasurer shall receive such portion of the Treasurer's salary as the Corporation shall approve, and the Treasurer and Deputy Treasurer shall give to the Corporation their joint and several bond in the sum of $100,000 for the faithful performance of his duties by the Deputy Treasurer."

The Treasurer reported a gift of $1000 from Miss ANNA C. LOWELL as an additional contribution towards the Lowell Fund for a Botanic Garden; and it was Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Miss LOWELL for her generous gift.

Voted, at the request of the Directors of the Harvard Dining Association, to amend Section 2 of "the Scheme for carrying on the Dining Hall," by inserting after the word "University" the words "except the Scientific School"; and by adding at the end thereof the following words: "Members of the Scientific School, who are members of this Association, shall be held to belong to the College classes of their respective years. Officers of the University and members of the Graduate Department, who are members of this Association, shall together be held to constitute a School of the University for the purposes of this section."

The President having stated that Dr. FRANCIS H. BROWN had given to the College Library, subject only to his own right to withdraw them during his own life, eleven volumes of manuscripts and cuttings relating to the part taken by Alumni of the University in the War, it was Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Dr. BROWN for his important gift, which represents great labor well spent by him upon matters of lasting interest to the University.

The President read a letter from Professor JOSEPH LOVERING, resigning the Hollis Professorship of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy from September 1, 1888; whereupon it was Voted, that the resignation of Professor LOVERING be accepted, to take effect September 1, 1888.

In accepting Professor LOVERING's resignation, the President and Fellows desire to express their sense of the high value of the varied services which he has rendered to the University as Tutor for two years (1836-38), Hollis Professor for fifty years (1838-88), as Regent for sixteen years (1853-69), and as Director of the Jefferson Physical Laboratory for four years (1884-88). As a teacher, an administrative officer, and a member of the Faculty, Professor LOVERING has served Harvard College with perfect fidelity and loyalty, and with sound discretion. As a public lecturer and man of science, he has done honor to the University and to the department of instruction which he represented. The President and Fellows felicitate Professor LOVERING and themselves upon the condition of assured prosperity in which he leaves the Department of Physics — the department to which he has devoted a long and well-filled life.

Voted, to proceed to the election of a Hollis Professor of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy from September 1, 1888; whereupon, ballots being given in, it appeared that BENJAMIN OSGOOD PEIRCE, Ph.D., was elected.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers, that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

FROM THE RECORDS OF THE OVERSEERS.

MEETING OF APRIL 11, 1888. — The Hon. LEVERETT SALTONSTALL in the chair. It was Voted, to concur with the President and Fellows in their votes as follows: —

Appointing as Proctors for 1887-88: S. A. BAILEY, A.B.; C. T. BILLINGS, A.B.; and C. W. AYER, A.B.

As Instructors for 1887-88: F. C. SUMICHRIST, in French; FRANCIS E. ABBOT, Ph.D., in Philosophy; JOSEPH LYBRAND MARKLEY, A.M., in Mathematics; EUGENE HOWARD BABBITT, A.B., in German; and JOHN HENRY GRAY, A.B., in Political Economy.

Appointing: H. W. CHAPLIN, A.M., Lecturer on Criminal Law for 1888-89; BARRETT WENDELL, A.B., Assistant Professor of English for five years from September 1, 1888; E. H. HALL, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Physics for five years from September 1, 1888.

Reappointing as Preachers to the University for 1888-89: PHILLIPS BROOKS, D.D.; ALEXANDER MCKENZIE, D.D.; and G. A. GORDON, A.B.; and appointing as Preachers to the University for 1888-89: WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.B., and T. C. WILLIAMS, D.B.

The report of the Committee on the Medical and Dental Schools, and the Veterinary School, was presented by Dr. HODGES and referred to the Committee on Reports and Resolutions.

A vote by the President and Fellows that the next edition of the Quinquennial Catalogue be printed in English was received and referred to Messrs. PEABODY, SARGENT, and GREEN.

It was voted to concur in amending the Statutes of the University by adding a provision in regard to the appointment and duties of a Deputy Treasurer. (See the Records of the Corporation.)

Adjourned to April 18.

ADJOURNED MEETING OF APRIL 18, 1888. — The Hon. LEVERETT SALTONSTALL in the chair, Voted, to concur with the President and Fellows in the election of G. L. GOODALE, A.M., M.D., as Fisher Professor of Natural History.

The Committee on Reports and Resolutions returned the report of the Committee as to the Medical, Dental, and Veterinary Schools, with no recommendation.

The resignation of Hon. THEODORE LYMAN as a member of the Board was presented and accepted, and a committee were appointed to express the regret of the Board at the resignation of Mr. LYMAN.

Mr. STOREY presented the majority report of the Special Committee on Athletic Exercises, and Mr. WOLCOTT a report dissenting in part from the report of the majority. It was Voted, that these reports be laid on the table and printed.

Mr. WOLCOTT presented the report of the Committee upon the Resolutions of the Alumni of the Lawrence Scientific School, to the effect that "in the government of a university, all branches of the university should be represented." The report was laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

It was Voted, to concur with the President and Fellows in the election of JOHN TROWBRIDGE, S.D., Rumford Professor; and B. O. PEIRCE, Ph.D., Hollis Professor of Mathematics and Natural History, from September 1, 1888.

Mr. SEAVER presented the report of the Committee on Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry, and the same was referred to the Committee on Reports and Resolutions.

The resignations of O. F. WADSWORTH, G. R. BRIGGS, and W. C. CABOT, as members of the Committee on Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry, were presented and accepted, and the Committee on Nominations was requested to nominate persons to fill these vacancies.

The meeting adjourned to May 2.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

HARVARD NECROLOGY.

Compiled by WILLIAM HOPKINS TILLINGHAST,

Assistant Librarian,

Editor of the Quinquennial Catalogue.

*.* Graduates and Class Secretaries are requested to send to the writer class reports, both new and old, and all newspapers which contain obituaries and other notices of Harvard alumni. It is important to have the places of birth and death, and, in addition to the year, to have the month and day of the month.

When the place of birth or death is unknown, the place of residence at the time of entering College or of decease, if known, is given within brackets.

The figures denoting age indicate the last completed year of life.

Arnoux, William Henry. The discovery and settlement of New York considered in its legal aspect. New York. [1887.] 1. 8°. pp. 24. 11383.1

This is an argument in a case to establish the rights of abutments on the Bowery to a fee in the roadway, as determinable by their holding under the English common law (which gives a fee) or under the Roman law (which does not). There was consequently involved the validity of the original title to the region as vesting in the English of Dutch, which brought up the questions of rights of possession by discovery, occupation, and conquest.

Daniel was a judge of the supreme court from 1841 to 1860. His opinions present in very forcible manner the extreme Southern view of most of the public questions of the day, — slavery, internal improvements, the relations of the national government to the states, the jurisdiction of the circuit courts, and the admiralty jurisdiction of the district courts.

Miscellaneous Papers. Collected from various sources. 1843.

VOL. I. 1. "Letter from Barbeau Dubourg to Dr. Franklin, Paris, June 12, 1776. Copied from a letter among Washington's papers. Sent July 2d."

2. "Letters from Silas Deane. Copied from the originals in the possession of his son, which were lent to me by Mr. Mitchell, of Hartford, Conn. 1776-1785. From p. 22 to p. 193." On a fly-leaf Mr. Sparks has written: "Silas Deane was member of Congress from Connecticut for the years 1774 and 1775. His term of service expired on the 26th of January, 1776, when the new delegates from Connecticut for that year took their seats in Congress. On the 3d of March, 1776, he received instructions to proceed to France as commercial and political agent for the United States. He was appointed by the Committee of Secret Correspondence on the part of Congress. On the 26th of September he was appointed by Congress one of the three Commissioners to France; the other Commissioners being Dr. Franklin and Arthur Lee."

The letters begin with one addressed to Robert Morris and the Committee of Secret Correspondence, from Bordeaux, June 23, 1767.

The most important of the other papers are the following: Memoir of Silas Deane to ["Mr. de Vergennes?" adds Sparks]. Paris, Aug. 22, 1776.

Additional instructions to the U. S. Commissioners, Oct. 16, 1776.

Correspondence with the Comte de Vergennes, the Secret Com. of Congress, M. Gérard, Baron de Kalb, etc.

Silas Deane's memoir or address to Congress, in Dec. 1778. Mr. Sparks adds in a note: "The following memoir has been printed in Philadelphia in a volume entitled Papers in relation to the case of Silas Deane, 1855, from a copy found among the papers of Henry Laurens, who was President of Congress at the time it was written. The printed copy differs in some particulars from the following." Mr. Sparks also marks three paragraphs from the end, where the printed copy ends; and adds: "The above address was laid before Congress on the 21st of December, 1778. See the following letter to Gen. Schuyler [dated Philadelphia, Feb. 2, 1779] and Diplomatic Corresp. i. 177.

Votes of Congress respecting Mr. Deane, May 26, 1779.

Letters to Gen. Schuyler, June 2, 1780; from Gen. Greene, Ashley River, Oct. 2, 1782. The last letters are in July, 1785.

3. "Letters from John Adams and the Commissioners in Paris," copied from John Adams's Letter-books, 1778-1783." The earliest is Aug. 30, 1778.

4. "Letter from M. de Rayneval to Mr. Monroe and extracts from Rayneval's Correspondence. This paper was furnished to me by Mr. Madison; and afterwards Mr. Monroe permitted me to make use of it, as appears by his letter at the end. I have since seen the whole of Rayneval's Correspondence in the Public Archives in Paris. See large extracts in my French papers." "Copied at

Mr. Madison's. Montpellier, Apr. 1830." The letter is dated "Paris, le 14 Nov<sup>r</sup>, 1795." Among the letters following is a note from Mr. John Vaughan of Philad., May 6, 1836, covering an extract from a letter of Benj. Vaughan, calling in question Mr. Sparks's statements in the North American Review, in respect to the relations of Lord Lansdowne and Rayneval, etc., upon which Mr. Sparks comments: "I have seen the original instructions from Count Vergennes, and all the correspondence between them, while Rayneval was in England, and can say that all the suspicions contained in the preceding remarks are utterly groundless."

5. "Diary and letters of Matthew Ridley, 1782-1783, containing many errors and false suspicions respecting men and things in Paris (particularly Dr. Franklin), as may be seen by my French manuscripts relating to that time; and also in Franklin's Life and Writings." "Copied from the papers of Matthew Ridley, of Maryland, now in the possession of Mr. Theodore Sedgwick, Jr., New York. April, 1832." The earliest is dated Philadelphia, Aug. 6, 1782, from Gouverneur Morris. There are other letters from Robert Morris.

Journals of Ridley in Europe, Oct. 24, 1777, to Feb. 17, 1778; Nov. 20, 1781, to May 8, 1782; May 9 to Sept. 22, 1782. (This last is endorsed by Mr. Sparks: "Full of false suspicions against Dr. Franklin.") Sept. 23, 1782, to Jan. 23, 1783. (The last entry is really Nov. 29, 1782.)

6. Extracts from Rev. Richard Warner's Literary Recollections, made by Isaac P. Davis in 1839. They relate to David Hartley in 1783.

7. "Memoranda concerning Commissioners in France." Simply dates of appointments, terms of service, etc., in Mr. Sparks's handwriting.

8. "Count d'Estaing's Correspondence, 1778-1779. Copied from the originals in the Marine Department, Paris, 1841."

LVI.

"Selections and memoranda made in the Public Offices of London and Paris and in the British Museum, 1840-41." This is a note-book concerning such topics as the following:—

Notes on Franklin and Lord Botetourt.

Mecklenburgh Resolves, with an extract from a letter of Gov. Martin, June 30, 1775, enclosing the Resolves in (probably) the Cape Fear Mercury, which show that the resolves as originally passed differed materially from these, said to have been passed, and that these latter were drafted after the Declaration of Independence was passed by Congress.

Notes on Junius and Gov. Franklin.

Medal of Washington, dated Lancaster, 1805.

Medal of the Fortieth (British) regiment, a memorial of their service at Germantown.

Baptism of Oglethorpe.

Abstract of a tract called A Miscellaneous Essay concerning the Courses pursued by Great Britain in the Affairs of the Colonies, London, 1755, which contains a proposition for a Stamp Act for the American Colonies. The same author's pamphlet, Proposals for uniting the English Colonies on the Continent of America so as to enable them to act with force and vigor against their Enemies, London, 1757, is also epitomised.

The Earl of Dartmouth's long letter of general instructions to Gage, June 27, 1775.

Notes about Philip Skene.

Manuscripts relating to America in the British Museum (list made Oct. 15, 1840). Refers to Ayscough's Catalogue, Nos. 1447 (David Ingram), 1692 (Chas. Lodwick), 2448 (Relation concerning the State of New England), 4432 (Mitchell, Jallam, etc.), 1039 (Answer to Capt. Nathaniel Butler).

References are also made to the King's library, No. . . . , Journal of the operations of Braddock's army in America; No. 192, Representation of the Commissioners of Trade to the King, 1721, and reports of different governors of different colonies between 1730 and 1763; and proposal for a Scheme of Union of the Colonies, "by the Earl of Starr in 1721"; No. 193, Reports of the Governors (except Rhode Island) on the State of the Colonies in 1766.

Sparks remarks of a journal of the Braddock campaign, that it was sent to the King after the defeat, and it has a map and five plans of movements, which accord nearly with those engraved in Sparks' Washington, vol. ii.

Reference is also made to the Harleian mss., No. 6394, for a Commission and Instructions to the Council of Plantations.

Tarleton's report to Cornwallis in the Royal Institution makes the loss at Wacsaw [Waxhaws] May 29, 1780, British, 14; Americans, 292; at Catawba Forks, Aug. 10, 1786, British loss, 15, killed and wounded.

Cornwallis' report on Camden, Aug. 16, 1780, gives British loss, 325; American, 703.

A volume in the collection in the Royal Institution, marked 1779, is filled with papers of Haldimand, Clinton, Allen, and Chittenden, relative to the movement to join Vermont to Canada.

*.* The Haldimand Papers, later acquired by the British Museum, as calendared by Douglass Brymner, the Dominion Archivist at Ottawa, throw more light on this matter. This Calendar is now in course of publication.

Gen. McLean's report to Clinton of British loss (135) Aug. 21, 1779, at Magebequiduce.

"The manuscripts in the Royal Institution contain a full account of military operations during the war in the Southern States, Florida, and the Mississippi Country, being the correspondence of the officers there with the commander-in-chief in New York."

The original petitions of the loyalists in New York, which poured in upon Carleton after it was learned that peace would be established on the basis of American independence, are among the papers in the Royal Institution.

Memoranda made in Paris, Dec. 1840. These cover notes on Count D'Aranda; Florida Blanca's policy; Miralles; the proposed descent upon English fleet and coast, 1779; the proposed mediation of Russia and Austria; the Independence of the United States; the English agents to Spain, Dalrymple and Cumberland; an abstract of Correspondence of Vergennes and Montmarin in 1780; the mediation of the empress of Russia, in 1781; and actions of John Jay.

Sparks says: "I have read the minutes of six conversations between Vergennes and Grenville, concerning peace, and they do not contain a single word about the American treaty or the Americans. Their independence was taken for granted, as both Mr. Grenville and Mr. Oswald had said that this was the determination of the British Cabinet."

Notes on Rayneval in Sept. 1782.

Franklin's letter to Vergennes, Dec. 6, 1782, in which he says of a map sent to him by Vergennes: "I have marked with a strong red line, according to your desire, the limits of the thirteen United States as settled in the preliminaries between the British and American plenipotentiaries."

*.* See on this map the Mass. Hist. Soc. Proc. Oct. 1887.

Inscription on the tomb of William Temple Franklin in Père la Chaise.

Sparks notes a Faden "map of the United States of North America, with the British and Spanish territories according to the treaty. London, 1783, — which he thinks the earliest map made in England after the treaty, and says that the northeastern boundary is marked as claimed by the United States.

*.* This is also claimed for a map by John Wallis, London, Apr. 3, 1783, of which a fac-simile is given in Jones' New York during the Rev., ii. 312.

The following mss. relating to America are in the Bibliothèque du Roi (1841): —

Lettre sur Père Jacques Gravier, 1694.

Penicaut's Relation de la Louisiane pendant 22 années (1700–1722).

Journal du voyage de la Louisiane par le St. Bernard de la Harpe (1718–1722).

Lettre de Mons. d'Iberville ou relation de son voyage de l'année 1699.

Journal du voyage fait par deux fregates du Roy, commandé par M. d'Iberville et par M. le Chevalier de Surgeres, 1698. "This journal is strictly chronological, and the last date is July, 1699."

There are several other interesting letters and papers in this volume relating to the above period, and also a map of the Mississippi River in manuscript, dated 1700. In this map the Red River is called Sablonniere; the Arkansas, Tonti; the Missouri, Rivière des Osages.

Voyage au continent Américain par un Français en 1777, et Reflexions philosophiques sur ces nouveaux Republicains.

Second voyage de Jacques Cartier en occident, en 1535 et 1536, suivi d'un petit glossaire ["Ternaux intends to publish this." J. S.]

Voyage fait en Canada en 1535 par ordre de François I. suivi d'un petit glossaire du Pays ["I suppose these two pieces to be copies of the same." J. S.]

Memorandum of Manuscripts relating to America in the British Museum. It covers references to the Harleian mss.; the Lansdowne mss.; and the King's library.

LX.

"Selections from General Schuyler's Papers, and from originals in the Office of the Secretary of State in Massachusetts." In quarto. "Selected to p. 165 from General Schuyler's Papers."

1. The Schuyler Papers begin July 19, 1775, and include letters from W. Duer, John Sullivan, Samuel Chase, Richard Montgomery, Silas Deane, Ethan Allen, David Wooster, Benedict Arnold, Col. Timothy Bedel, Seth Warner, Thomas Lynch, Chas. Lee, Lord Stirling, Benj. Franklin, Wm. Thompson, Gen. Gates, Lt. Col. Antill, Charles Carroll, Col. M. Hayes, Jas. Duane, Col. Richard Varick, Benj. Lincoln, Gouverneur Morris, R. R. Livingston, Gen. S. H. Parsons, Gen. Nath'l Greene.

Also letters to Wooster from Arnold and Col. Donald Campbell, after the failure at Quebec, Dec. 31, 1775.

The letters cover the Canada campaign of 1775-76, and the campaign against Burgoyne in 1777. The last letter is March 28, 1781, but there are fewer after 1777. They are not all copied entire.

2. From the Gansevoort Papers. The earliest is from Schuyler to Col. Gansevoort, dated Albany, June 30, 1777 (beginning on p. 167), followed by others from Nicholas Herckheimer, Barry St. Leger, B. Arnold (dated German Flats, Aug. 22, 1777, and endorsed by Sparks, "Evidently intended to be intercepted"), and Lafayette.

Also letters from Gansevoort to Washington and Sullivan.

These letters cover the movements about Fort Stanwix in 1777, and Sullivan's Campaign in 1779.

3. "From originals in the Mass. State Dept.," beginning p. 183. The earliest papers are records of a provincial convention at Exeter (N. H.), Apr. 26, 1775. Among the other more important papers are a letter from the Committee of Correspondence in Falmouth, May 14; letter from John Brown, dated Montreal, Mar. 29, 1775; B. Arnold, Ticonderoga, May 11, 14; Edward Mott, May 11, on the capture of Ticonderoga; Arnold, Crown Point, May 19, 23, 26, 29, June 24; Gov. Trumbull, May 25, 29, June 1; J. Trumbull, jr., May 29; address from Ethan Allen and James Easton to the people of Canada, Ticonderoga, June 1; Ethan Allen, Crown Point, June 9; Jos. Hawley, June 4; James Easton, Crown Point, June 6.

Address to the Eastern tribe or tribes of Indians, May 15, 1775, and other papers relating to the enlisting of the Indians on the side of the patriots.

John Adams, Philadelphia, Nov. 24.

There is only one paper later than 1775, and that is a letter of Artemas Ward, Boston, Apr. 16, 1776, describing the condition of the army which had been left under his command.

Extracts from the Correspondence and records of the Provincial Congress of Mass., and of the neighboring colonies, and communications from the Continental Congress.

Mr. Sparks adds at the end of a letter from the Committee of Mass. at Crown Point, June 28, 1775: "By the Journal of the Mass. Assembly it appears that Arnold on his way to Ticonderoga had engaged a company of men in Stockbridge, who marched on the 10th of May under Capt. Abraham Brown, but how far they marched is uncertain."

4. "From an orderly book kept by Col. Ruggles Woodbridge of South Hadley, Mass." (p. 37). Begins at Ticonderoga, Aug. 25, 1776, and ends Oct. 27, 1776.

5. "Papers copied from the manuscripts of Peter Van Schaack relating to the Loyalists during the Revolution, written in London." Begins with

"Remarks on the state of American affairs, 12 June, 1782." Then comes "Observations on the peace and its effects upon Loyalists, 2 Mar. 1783." "Address to the lords on behalf of the Loyalists." "Memorial to Parliament in favor of Loyalists."

6. "Major William Croghan's Journal." Begins at Charlestown, S. C., Feb. 9, 1780, and ends May 4.

LXI.

"Correspondence of Lord Stormont, British Ambassador in France. Copied from the originals in the State Paper Office, London, 1857." In two volumes.

*.* The copies seem to have been made by Henry Tuke Parker.

Vol. I. 1776-1777. Letters of Lord Weymouth to Stormont, beginning Jan. 5, 1776.

Andrew Frazer to Lord Weymouth, from Dunkirk, beginning Jan. 2, 1776.

Lord Stormont to Weymouth, beginning Jan. 10, 1776.

Weymouth to Mr. St. Paul, beginning Apr. 12, 1776. Mr. St. Paul to Weymouth, beginning Apr. 10, 1776.

Theodore Cannon to Lieut. Gov. Irving, Painheuf-sur-Loire, Apr. 25, 1776.

Lord Weymouth to Stormont, Aug. 16, 1776, relating to Silas Deane and his doings; the agency of Beaumarchais. Later letters are occupied with the same topics. Stormont to Weymouth, Aug. 14, 1776, about Americans in London, Dr. Williams and others.

The letters of this period cover an interchange of observations regarding the presence and operations of Americans in Europe, and the shipment of arms to America. Some of these letters are marked "secret"; others "most secret," "most confidential."

Some of the letters relate to the engaging of French officers to go to America; and the relations of the French Court to such.

The lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, Oct. 3, 1776, to Weymouth, respecting the danger from American cruisers in the West India seas, and their operations there. This matter is the subject of later letters.

The matters touched in subsequent letters may be thus chronologically arranged:—

Oct. 1776: American vessels at Bordeaux. Deane watched. The House of Benson at Bordeaux. The cautiousness of Maurepas and Vergennes. Du Coudray. Powder from Dunkirk taken to Martinico. Affidavit of James Stokes about American armed vessels in the West Indies; and others laden with powder for the Colonies (signed Aug. 7, 1776).

Nov. 1776: Reports of Du Coudray taking powder to America. Beaumarchais. Stormont's interview with Vergennes, about the French West Indies supplying the rebels. Deane in Paris, giving out that he has engaged 400 French officers. Attempts of Stormont to raise in Vergennes a suspicion of Deane. The Mediterranean trade of the Americans to be carried on in French bottoms. Beaumarchais corresponding with Wilkes. War with England talked of in Paris. Report of a treaty between Vergennes and Deane. Spain likely to take an open stand for the rebels. The Duke of Chartres has come to believe war will not occur. Beaumarchais' movements stopped.

Dec. 1776: Deane attempting to explain away British successes in America. France watching British movements, and learns from M. de Noailles' despatches that formidable preparations are making in England. Franklin's arrival at Nantes; "a subtle, artful man, void of all truth," and "a dangerous engine." Vergennes declared that no French officer went to America with his approbation, and had his spies out to observe any such intending to go. Suspicion that Franklin is charged with a secret important mission. Deane "bribes high for French officers." Du Coudray with his train goes to Boston, via Saint Domingo. De Kalb was secretly sent to America in 1770 [1768] to sow dissension. Franklin at Versailles. "Too much reason to fear Franklin will draw France into the snare" and "she will change these secret successes into open assistance." Weymouth thinks Franklin may have left America, thinking her prostration was near. Vergennes' views of Franklin. Stormont demands of Vergennes the surrender of English vessels brought into Nantes by American privateers. Complaints of ammunition being given to American vessels in the French West Indies. Chances of letters of marque being given by England. French officers going to America. Account of a long interview between Stormont and Vergennes. Franklin at Nantes. Du Coudray sails from Havre, on the expedition prepared by Beaumarchais. Other ships with munitions for the rebels are loading at Marseilles, Bordeaux, and Nantes. Raising of troops for the rebels in France and Germany. News of the successes of Howe over Washington. Franklin reaches Paris. His first callers are "low people." He is refused an audience with the King. Beaumarchais offends the French ministry by his indiscretion. Powder sent from Dunkirk to the West Indies. Stormont is satisfied with the success in circulating the reports about Franklin being a fugitive; and is much exercised whether Franklin has or has not seen Vergennes. [This was Dec. 25; Franklin's first interview was Dec. 28.] "Franklin and Beaumarchais, though much together, are very suspicious and distrustful of one another." "I am persuaded that, taking in all the circumstances, Franklin is a less dangerous instrument than Deane." The proposals Franklin is instructed to make to the French Court. American ships at Nantes.

Jan. 1777: Account of Franklin's supposed interview at Versailles, with his propositions. The King's reply is that he will observe strict neutrality. The Choiseul party "take Franklin by the hand." American privateers refused ammunition at Blaye (near Bordeaux). The impression made by Franklin's arrival is wearing away fast. Franklin and Deane in treaty with the Farmers General. Carmichael rebuffed in approaching the Swedish minister at the Hague. Franklin watched by Stormont, who says to all that Franklin is only a fugitive rebel. "The effect of his fur-cap seems to be worn out." Beaumarchais comes out of Maurepas' with "tears in his eyes." The Choiseul party say that France has disgraced herself by being willing to wound, but not to strike. Beaumarchais directing larger exports of ammunition and supplies from St. Domingo. Maurepas conniving at the sailing of vessels with supplies. Franklin has interviews with Gérard. Count d'Aranda's partiality to the rebels' cause.

Feb. 1777: Communications of Count Broglio with the American colonies. Maurepas reasons that to give the Americans independence would be to risk the retention by France of her West India islands. Choiseul has secret interviews with Franklin and Deane. Maurepas will help England if England restores Canada to France. The rebels drawing arms, etc. from Holland. A vessel to sail from Nantes with munitions for the rebels. Lee signs an agreement with the Farmers General, by which they take tobacco to the amount of nineteen million livres. Pennet and Rumley, American agents, fitting out vessels at Nantes. Franklin and Deane receive remittances from England. The American privateer "Reprisal" takes the Falmouth Packet and four merchantmen; and all arriving at L'Orient, they were ordered to depart. Vergennes says he has only seen Franklin once. Encloses letters of Franklin and Deane to Stormont, Feb. 23, 1777, respecting 100 British seamen in Capt. Wilkes' custody, and making a proposal for exchange.

Mar. 1777: The "Reprisal" and her prizes had not been warned off, as Hunter at L'Orient reports; and the vessel is in fact careening there. Remonstrance with Vergennes on that account, who said that further examination of the "Reprisal" showed the necessity of allowing her to be careened. Necessity of restitution of the prizes taken urged. Mémoire (March 18, 1777) presented to Vergennes on the subject. Vessel to sail from Brest with stores for the rebels. American vessels bring expresses to Franklin, and he is "propagating the falsest stories of the disaster of the Hessians." The military men here in Paris "de la vieille cour" think we conduct the war too leniently. Vergennes holds the dictatorship of Washington for six months to be a dangerous measure "dans une république naissante." Vergennes thinks the British minister is deceived by false information. The British minister thinks Vergennes knows more than he acknowledges. De Kalb is to embark for America. Wyckes conferring with Franklin. The principal nests of the rebels are the Hôtel de Mombourg and the St. Esprit adjoining the other. Two peculiar ships building in Holland for the Americans. "That infamous incendiary, Deane, is more countenanced since the accusation of John the Painter, and is very frequent in his visits to Versailles." Carmichael, sometime ago in Holland, is now confidential secretary to Franklin and Deane, and sees the Commiss of Vergennes whenever he pleases. Interviews of Franklin and Count d'Aranda. Lee at Madrid. A wild enthusiasm for the rebels in Paris: Maurepas finds it politic to preserve peace, but winks at all help given the rebels. Stormont hopes he left, like Queen Elizabeth's ambassador, all his passions at Dover, though he is sorely tried. Lafayette, a passionate enthusiast in the rebel cause, is to embark for America. Lee is well received at Madrid.

April, 1777: Lafayette and nine officers have embarked on a French vessel at Bordeaux. Vergennes calls the movement on the part of Lafayette "unaccountable folly." Lafayette's relatives are displeased. Deane, notwithstanding the odious crimes with which he is charged, is suffered to go to Versailles. The letters which Franklin gets from England, especially from Dr. Barncroft, are directed to M. Rechaumont. The rebels seem anxious to get some offer from us, to help them in their negotiations with France. Lee at Bilbao. Lafayette's banker to answer Deane's drafts to half a million of livres. Lee returns to Paris. The American ship "Lexington" arrives at Bordeaux with despatches to Franklin. Lafayette freighted a ship with cloth for the rebels. Fourteen officers went with Lafayette. M. de Broglio secretly connived at the movement. Lafayette overtaken and will return to France. Interview of Stormont with a friend of Vergennes, relative to respective measures of France and England, that seemed like preparing for war; and with Maurepas, who denied that any treaty with the rebels was in progress. Lee on bad terms with Franklin and Deane. Count Broglio corresponds with the rebel agents. Americans here sympathising with our cause say that vigorous action this next campaign will subdue the rebellion. French vessels fitting out to help the rebels. American captains to command them. Attack on Glasgow intended. Vergennes' fair promises. Lafayette confined. An anonymous offer to disclose an enterprise of the rebels for 1500 guineas, being a treaty of the rebels with a general officer of France, by which an expedition is to go to New Orleans. Copy of the proposed offer in French. Stormont authorized to use his discretion. The French ministry wink at the enterprise. Franklin and Deane sanction it. Rumor of Lafayette's escape.

May, 1777: Lafayette known to have re-embarked. Franklin has engaged sixteen more French officers. Interview of Stormont with Vergennes and Maurepas about the American Conyngham bringing prizes into Dunkirk, with Frazer's letters, Dunkirk, May 6, 1777, informing Stormont of the facts. Weymouth directs Stormont to decline the purchase of the secret offered for 1500 guineas. Stormont complains to Vergennes of the fitting out of French vessels to carry supplies to the rebels still going on. The "Amphitrite" has reached New England, without making any show of touching at the French islands. Vergennes considered the New Orleans expedition a wild chimera. The "Polly," of Philadelphia, Capt. Wm. Parkinson, arrived at Bordeaux, having taken the ship "Falmouth" of Glasgow on the voyage, which she sent to Boston. Capt. Johnson in the "Lexington" has joined Wickes off Nantes. Franklin displeased at Stormont's remonstrance against Conyngham being favored at Dunkirk. Franklin going to Spain. The rebels assured by the French ministry that they will not allow England to conquer them. Conyngham and his mate Beach imprisoned in Dunkirk. Andrew Frazer describes an interview with Conyngham. Stormont's interview with Vergennes about Dunkirk matters; and his complaint of French vessels sailing really for America, but under false "lettres de mer." A flotilla of American privateers off Bordeaux, including the "Lexington" and "Reprisal," which last ship had remained at L'Orient just as long as she wished in order to refit. Ships fitting out at Marseilles or Toulon to carry stores to the rebels. They will carry French colors, clear for the French West Indies, carry double commissions, each vessel having a French captain and one commissioned by Congress. Hynson is to have the direction of the expedition, and will receive his instructions from Deane. Count Falkenstein refuses to see the rebel commissioners, and refused to give a passport to Lee to go to Berlin. Franklin plans an interview with Maurepas at Passy. Interview with Vergennes about matters at Dunkirk.

VOL. II. 1777-1778. May 1777, continued:
The ships fitting at Marseilles are to have French

FROM THE RECORDS OF THE CORPORATION.

MEETING OF MAY 1, 1888. — The Treasurer reported that he had received from the Executors of the Will of WILLIAM PERKINS a note of the Lawrence Manufacturing Co. for $30,000 payable without interest on July 19, 1888, as full payment of the unrestricted legacy from Mr. PERKINS to the College.

The Treasurer reported that he had received from the estate of Mr. GREENLEAF the additional sum of $60,000 for the PRICE GREENLEAF Fund; — and from the estate of Mrs. GURNEY additional sums amounting to $13,743.63 for the GURNEY Fund.

The Treasurer reported that he had received the sum of $25 as a gift from Mrs. H. S. GREW for present use at the Botanic Garden, and the same was gratefully accepted.

The Treasurer reported that he had received through the President an anonymous gift of $50 for the permanent fund of the Dental School, and the same was gratefully accepted.

The Treasurer reported that he had received through Professor LYMAN a gift of $25 for current use at the Veterinary Department from Colonel THEODORE A. DODGE, and the same was gratefully accepted.

The Treasurer reported that the Trustees under the Will of WALTER HASTINGS have conveyed to the College as part of the WALTER HASTINGS Fund certain real estate on Sacramento Street in Cambridge, and it was thereupon Voted, that the Treasurer be authorized on behalf of the Corporation to accept said property by an instrument in form as follows: —

"ALEXANDER S. WHEELER, WILLIAM H. GOODWIN, and THOMAS E. PROCTOR, Trustees under the Will of WALTER HASTINGS, late of Boston, deceased, have by deed dated April 21, 1888, conveyed to the President and Fellows of Harvard College a lot of land on Sacramento Street in Cambridge, with six dwelling houses thereon, the same being part of the estate of said WALTER HASTINGS held by said Trustees under the trusts of said Will, — the President and Fellows of Harvard College accept said deed and conveyance, and in consideration thereof hereby release and discharge the said Trustees and their successors in the trust from all liability to account for said lands and the buildings thereon under the provisions of said Will. In witness whereof the President and Fellows of Harvard College have caused their corporate seal to be hereto affixed, and this instrument subscribed by E. W. HOOPER, Treasurer, this second day of May, 1888."

Voted, that the Treasurer be authorized on behalf of the Corporation to enter into an agreement with the Trustees under the Will of WALTER HASTINGS substantially in accordance with the following memorandum: —

"Memorandum of agreement between the President and Fellows of Harvard College and ALEXANDER S. WHEELER, WILLIAM H. GOODWIN, and THOMAS E. PROCTOR, Trustees under the Will of WALTER HASTINGS.

"Whereas the death of the widow of Mr. HASTINGS enables the Trustees under his Will to proceed to the erection of a building on the grounds of Harvard College to be called the WALTER HASTINGS Hall, in pursuance of the provisions of the Will, and it seems wisest that the President and Fellows of the College should sign the contracts and take the immediate supervision of construction: —

"It is therefore agreed between the parties that the Trustees shall pay to the Treasurer of the College $200,000 upon the execution of the contracts, the same to be approved by the Trustees: and the President and Fellows of the College agree that the building shall be erected and completed within a reasonable time, the Trustees further agreeing to provide such further sums as may be needed, not exceeding $50,000.

"The President and Fellows shall allow interest at 3% per annum on all balances in its hands during construction."

The Treasurer reported that Professor FARLOW has received subscriptions towards the purchase of the botanical collection of the late Professor TUCKERMAN for the sum of $3000. It was thereupon Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to each subscriber, and that the name of each subscriber be entered upon the Donation Book of the College.

Voted, to appoint LEONARD D. GARFIELD Superintendent of Buildings from May 1, 1888.

Voted, to appoint GEORGE LYMAN KITTEDGE, A.B., Instructor in English from September 1, 1888.

Voted, to reappoint as Proctors for 1888-89: ALFRED HENRY LLOYD, A.B., CHARLES TOWNE BILINGS, A.B., GEORGE POPE FURBER, A.B., OTTO RHEINHARD HANSEN, A.B., EDGAR BUCKINGHAM, A.B., STEPHEN ARNOLD BAILEY, A.B.

Voted, to appoint as Proctors for 1888-89: BRADLEY WEBSTER PALMER, A.B., HOLLIS WEBSTER, A.B. The resignation of Proctor ARTHUR L. HALL, A.B., was accepted.

Voted, to accept the resignation of Professor CHARLES JOYCE WHITE, A.M., as Registrar, as of date September 1, 1888.

Voted, to appoint Professor WINFIELD SCOTT CHAPLIN, A.M., Chairman of the Parietal Committee from September 1, 1888.

Voted, to grant the request of Professor CHARLES R. LANMAN for leave of absence for the academic year 1888-89, in accordance with the rules established by this Board May 31, 1880.

Voted, to grant to Assistant Professor WILLIAM M. DAVIS an extension of his leave of absence without pay, during such portion of the current academic year as he may find it necessary to be absent.

An offer was received from JOHN O. SARGENT, Esq., to give $100 for a prize on terms named by him, for the current academic year, and the same was gratefully accepted.

Voted, that no appointment to a Graduate Scholarship shall take effect until the appointee is actually registered and working as a resident student at the University.

A communication was received from Messrs. DARWIN E. WARE, WILLIAM G. RUSSELL, EDWARD WALDO EMERSON, CHARLES HENRY PARKER, and EDWARD BANGS as a committee of subscribers, presenting to Harvard College a portrait of E. ROCKWOOD HOAR, painted by FRANK H. TOMPKINS;—and it was Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to the subscribers through the Committee for their welcome gift, which will make live in Memorial Hall the features and form of one who has greatly loved and served Harvard College.

HARVARD NECROLOGY.

Compiled by WILLIAM HOPKINS TILLINGHAST,

Assistant Librarian,

Editor of the Quinquennial Catalogue.

*.* Graduates and Class Secretaries are requested to send to the writer class reports, both new and old, and all newspapers which contain obituaries and other notices of Harvard alumni. It is important to have the places of birth and death, and, in addition to the year, to have the month and day of the month.

When the place of birth or death is unknown, the place of residence at the time of entering College or of decease, if known, is given within brackets.

The figures denoting age indicate the last completed year of life.

Graduates.

The death of Dr. Goddard, of the class of 1815, who became senior alumnus after the death of Mr. William R. Sever of 1811, on Oct. 2, 1887, leaves no class represented by a living member before 1817. Mr. William Winthrop Allen, of that class, is now the senior alumnus; he was born at Medfield, 28 January, 1794; he bore the name of Silas at the time of graduation, but subsequently had it legally changed. Two of his classmates are still living, Mr. Samuel E. Sewall, the oldest living graduate of the Law School, who was born at Boston, 9 November, 1799, and Hon. George Bancroft, the youngest member of the class, born at Worcester, 3 October, 1800.

Imperfect:—The general title-page and the title-pages for the four divisions, except the last, are wanting; also the preface and several leaves at the end.

These volumes belonged to Samuel Vassall (H. U. 1695) and appear to have been used by him in college, bearing the dates 1692 and 1694 in several places. They afterwards belonged to Rev. Joseph Haven (H. U. 1774) of Rochester, N. H., from whom they passed to William Mather in 1790. In 1809, Rev. Joseph Stevens Buckminster (H. U. 1800) gave them to Samuel Harris, a young man of extraordinary promise in philological studies, and at the time an undergraduate in Harvard College. With the assistance of friends, he had been enabled to enter college as a Junior in the fall of 1808 when 26 years of age, having previously practised engraving. On July 7, 1810 (shortly before Commencement), he was drowned while swimming in Charles River. A contemporary account in the Harvard Yearbook says that Hebrew, Chaldee, Syriac, and Arabic were no less familiar to him than his own tongue, and that he had a thorough acquaintance with Persian, Ethiopic, Samaritan, Bengali, Turkish, and Hindustani, besides being conversant with most modern languages and having made a special study of the Indian languages of North America. The college library possesses five volumes of his mss. relating to Oriental subjects; they comprise, according to the account of them in the first volume, (1) a collection of alphabets of various Oriental tongues, with some illustrative remarks, a Persian grammar, a Persian and English dictionary; (2) a lexicon, Arabic and Latin, with an introduction of 30 pages of exercises in the Niskhi character; (3) a portfolio of various papers on grammar, language, and Oriental literature; (4) an Arabic manuscript [a copy of a portion of Abu'lfaiz's Asnales musulmeti, covering the first three years chronicled in that work]; and (5) a Hebrew grammar entitled Oriental grammar on Oriental principles.

After the death of Harris, the Hebrew Bible came into the possession of Dr. J. G. Palfrey (H. U. 1815), who gave it a few months before his death to Dr. A. P. Peabody, by whom it is now presented to the library of the Divinity School.

The principal notes are by Buckminster and Harris, those of the latter being taken from Geddes. Others in pencil have been added by Dr. Palfrey.

officers on board to take command in case they meet British ships. Beaumarchais is carrying out the fitting of these ships.

June, 1777: American privateers in the West Indies really French vessels. Hopes to put off a French war till the rebels are subdued, say, with this campaign. Hynson telling doubtful stories. Franklin has engaged Pulaski, "one of the King of Poland's assassins," and five or six French officers to go to America and by a vessel bound to Boston. The armament of the cutter at Dunkirk goes on. Stormont remonstrates with Vergennes. Bingham at Martinico, a rebel agent, gives commissions to armed vessels, which pass for French, having a French crew and French papers, if British cruisers overhaul them. Conyngham at Dunkirk set at liberty. Interview with Vergennes on the complicity of the French governors in the West Indies with rebel schemes. American privateers at Bordeaux. A ship equipping for America at Havre de Grâce. Vergennes said to have warned Franklin and Deane to be cautious. Trains of artillery and entrenching tools going from French ports — those from Marseilles to go in a ship commanded by Capt. Lundy, who was lieutenant to M. de Bougainville in his voyage round the world. Conyngham and his crew, being released, are now in the cutter "Greyhound" at Dunkirk. Pulaski embarks at Nantes in a Massachusetts armed vessel, Capt. Fink. Hynson at Nantes to take charge of a French ship. The Farmers General have paid one million livres for tobacco. Only English success in America can keep off a French war. The French ministry keep some of their covert assistance to the rebel a secret to their king. A Maryland privateer carried a prize into Cherbourg. Interview of Stormont with Maurepas about the "Greyhound;" and with Vergennes about the proceedings of Beaumarchais, in sending cannon to the rebels. Guns at Marseilles are publicly said to be for the insurgents. Remonstrance at allowing Franklin to engage French officers. Recruits for the rebels obtained in the streets of St. Pierre (Martinico) under the rebel flag. The "Oliver Cromwell" carries three prizes into Martinico.

July, 1777: The "Reprisal," "Lexington," and "Dolphin" supplied with everything they wish in French ports. The French governors of the West Indies suspected to be concerned in the piracies. Arthur Pigott's account of the connivance at Martinico with the privateers, where he saw one Col. Davis, an American officer, born in Boston. The Americans and their prizes go into a bay called Corbet, near St. Pierre. The English in the island watched. The American flag is flying in every street. Bingham, the American agent there, had constant access to Count D'Argout, the French governor. More French than American privateers fitted out there. They carry a nominal American captain. Interview of Stormont with Maurepas about the assistance given to American privateers, and a demand for a change of course on the part of the French government, or war must follow. This was an interview professedly of private gentlemen to allow freedom of utterance. A diplomatic interview with Vergennes, for which the other was a preparation. The new governor of Martinico would act more discreetly. The rebels intending to form their privateers in European waters into a squadron, and to cruise upon the English coast. The story of the "Reprisal," Capt. Wickes, rehearsed. Vergennes is told that nothing but immediate steps to remedy existing methods could prevent war. The minister promised to confer with his king, who directed an answer to be made to Stormont, who sends to Weymouth the substance of it, as Vergennes read it to him, and the subsequent conversation between the two, respecting American privateers and their prizes brought into French ports; and Vergennes' counter-complaints of the seizure of French vessels by the English. Stormont endeavors to make Vergennes think that Franklin was really an intriguer against the French ministry. Stormont's subsequent interview with Maurepas. Stormont thinks the general madness of the French in favor of the Americans prevents any French ministry doing as much as they would to preserve peace. Count D'Eyck, the Bavarian minister, and the Abbé Nicolé, the Tuscan minister, are over-civil to Franklin, who in turn has to be submissive and intreat the French Court to be allowed to stay in France. Maurepas professes a desire for peace. Richard declares the "Greyhound" is his property and she is allowed to sail from Dunkirk. Five American captains at Nantes, — Wykes, Nicholson, Hynson, Johnston, and Green. Beaumarchais said to have purchased the old French frigate "Hippopotame." Vergennes refuses to order American ships out of French ports while English cruisers were in sight. An American privateer at Brest, wishing water.

Aug. 1777: Stormont remonstrates with Maurepas and Vergennes for continued inaction as respects the American privateers, etc. Franklin and Deane, through Beaumarchais, endeavor to force a French alliance. Stormont instructed to insist on the "General Mifflin" and other rebel vessels being sent from port. An American prize ordered out of Cherbourg was sold outside the port and returned as a French vessel. The American privateer "Lexington" chased into Morlaix and rapturously received by the French. Stormont's memorial to Vergennes about rebel privateers at Bordeaux, and further interviews. Two American privateers take a Jamaica ship into Painbœuf. Maurepas promises the "Reprisal," "Lexington,"

"Dolphin," and "General Mifflin" shall be forced to sea. Stormont ordered to seek an audience with the French king.

Sept. 1777: France making efforts to stop the fitting out of American vessels in French ports. Interviews of Stormont with Maurepas and Vergennes. French troops sent to the West Indies. Conyngham will be punished if he returns. Beaumarchais believed to be on bad terms with Franklin and Deane. Franklin said to be threatening to leave France. The Court said to have notified Franklin that it was ready for war. Franklin presses the Court for succour; and intends to go to Madrid.

October, 1777: The French ministers communicate with Franklin through M. Chaumont. Deane lives now with Franklin, changing his lodging from Madame Qualen's, who was suspected by Vergennes of being open to Stormont's bribes. M. de Sartines has engaged people to build two large ships for the rebels. American privateers are still succeeded in French ports.

Nov. 1777: Interviews with Maurepas and Vergennes. A vessel, ostensibly Dutch but really rebel, fitting out at Bordeaux. Spain and France paying money to the Americans. Two American privateers, which took the "Clarendon" and "Hanover Planter," are still in the river at Nantes; and the "Alfred" and "Raleigh" are still at L'Orient, and their Captains are walking about Paris in their uniforms. Maurepas says they had orders to quit their uniforms and leave Paris. The Americans are still countenanced at Martinico. Advices from the West Indies show that Delaplain is bound to France with messages from Congress; that seven American privateers had sailed from St. Pierre to cruise to the windward of Barbadoes; that the rebel privateer "St. John," Capt. Palmer, 14 guns, had sailed from St. Pierre on a cruise; that another, the "Tiger," 14 guns, etc., was at St. Lucia; that all these vessels had few Americans on board; that three American ships were fitting out at Port Royal; that American prizes are freely disposed of in two bays neighboring to St. Pierre; that English sailors are confined at St. Vincent as prisoners; that an intercepted letter of John Langdon, Portsmouth, May 26, 1777, to Bingham, the American agent in the French islands, informed him of the arrival at Portsmouth of two French ships with munitions. Fifty thousand stands of arms to be shipped for American ports from Nantes and L'Orient.

Dec. 1777: A large warehouse at Nantes, used by the rebels, contains 80,000 stands of arms, which are gradually shipped to America. The "Pacifique," now at Nantes, will take some. This vessel has "double captains." "Stormont sends to Weymouth (Dec. 6) such particulars as he has got of Burgoyne's catastrophe, including a paper by Franklin embodying the substance of letters from Congress, which left Boston Oct. 31 and reached Nantes Dec. 1. Franklin is circulating bulletins, "which he varies according to the credulity of those for whom they are designed." A billet of Franklin "which savors strongly of his crafty arrogance" is given. Franklin has constant communication with England, and causes, it is suspected, the current suggestions that now is the time for England and the Colonies to come to terms. Stormont's interview with Vergennes about privateers in French ports and the countenance of them at Martinico. Spain urging upon France an understanding to join the rebels. Maurepas "still insidious but not openly hostile." Sixty vessels in French ports would sail for America if orders from the Court did not prevent. Franklin urging the French Court to enter into an agreement, and so shut out friendly overtures from Great Britain to the Americans. Franklin denies it, but it is supposed a treaty has been agreed upon; but Vergennes denies it. "Vergennes is always upon his guard." Maurepas also denies it, and retorts that he learns the English will offer to admit the independence of the Americans if they will join England in an attack on France. Stormont denies this; but he made only "a momentary impression." The rebel agents always go to Versailles in the night. Stormont has no shadow of a doubt that the French and Spanish Courts are combining against England; they are increasing their naval strength; the first blow will probably fall in the West Indies; the nation is strongly for war; Girard goes to Passy in the night, and Franklin and Deane make him nightly visits at Versailles. French ships with supplies are to be sent to America under convoy of French men-of-war, probably to New England. A French frigate of 36 guns will sail from Bordeaux with Deane's brother and carry a new cypher with Congress. France and Spain have practically given 8,000,000 livres to the Colonies. Carmichael goes on board the "Lyon" at Nantes. The King of Prussia is endeavoring to form an intimate connection with this Court. The French ministry have surrounded Stormont with spies, to see if he opens negotiations with Franklin and Deane.

Jan. 1778: French officers returned from America say that Washington's army is brave but lawless. D'Estaing is known to have said that war with England would take place before the end of March. There are no intermediaries now as formerly between the French ministry and Franklin, but direct intercourse. Stormont recommends forcing France to a categorical answer upon the question of an American alliance. Twenty-one more French ships are to be put in commission, Count D'Artois said so. Interview with Vergennes, which did not remove Stormont's suspicions. Stormont thinks Maurepas wishes England to strike first, and is waiting to see what effect her proposals have on Congress.

Feb. 1778: A French naval officer with seven ships will convey from Nantes the following ships: A frigate commanded by Capt. Nicholson; a ship of 18 guns, Capt. Young; the "Brune," a French East Indiaman, bought by American agent, with a Mr. Browne, an American supercargo; two ships laden by Williams the rebel agent; two French ships also laden for Congress;—all these bound to Boston. Also a French ship bound to South Carolina. The "Amphitrite," now called the "Ranger," Capt. Jones, is to join the convoy and accompany it part way, and he is directed to carry any prizes he may later take, to Bilboa or Corunna. The French convoy is to go with the ships about 250 leagues. The treaty of France and America, provisionally signed, is a commercial one for 30 years. Franklin has opened a loan for £2,000,000. The British man-of-war "Hector" takes the French ship "Koulican," carrying arms, as was alleged, to the rebels. France has probably made both a commercial treaty and one of alliance with the rebels, supposed to have been signed on the 6th inst. The French naval officer, M. de la Motte Piquet, will convoy eighteen or twenty ships, which will gather from St. Malo, Nantes, L'Orient, La Rochelle, etc. Several have American as well as French captains. The rebel colonies have met with as little candor from France as has been shown in negotiations with England.

Mar. 1778: Stormont advises immediate war. Weymouth, Mar. 13, advises Stormont that M. de Noailles, the French ambassador in London, had just notified him of a treaty with the colonies in rebellion, and Stormont is directed to leave Paris "without taking leave," giving notice of it to "as many of His Majesty's subjects as you conveniently can."

England and Holland. "Letters and Extracts from the Correspondence of Sir Joseph Yorke in Holland, from Jan. 1776 to Dec. 1780."

* * This transcript was made by H. Tuke Parker.

1776. January. The American vessel "Adventurer," Captain Samuel Shillaber, of Rhode Island, preparing to leave Amsterdam under Dutch colors.

March. Tricks here to cover contraband trade. Vessels loaded for Africa proceed to St. Eustatia, where rebel agents buy their cargoes. Powder sent to America.

April. Smuggling from Zealand to America. Correspondence of the rebels with the Dutch in St. Eustatia, through Isaac Van Dam, who has sent powder to Virginia. Yorke holds a conference with the deputies of the States General. Franklin's correspondence. An American ship at Rotterdam watched. Two such ships at Amsterdam. The government at Brussels had forbidden the exportation of arms, etc., to America.

May. A party of Americans from London watched. Col. Boyd, from New Hampshire, in Amsterdam. He has a passport from Congress. Murray and Breckenridge from Virginia. Boyd gone to Paris. Dutch merchants can afford to lose two cargoes of powder out of three, and then make large profits. It is shipped in tea-chests, rice barrels, etc. Isaac Lascelles Wynne, a Philadelphia Quaker, coming to buy powder. Letter from the Abbé Desnoyes relative to the Philadelphia Commission from Franklin. Conference with the deputies of the States General relative to the trade of St. Eustatia with the rebels. Dr. Hugh Williamson, a rebel agent.

June. Capt. Walton's arrest of the "Judith Aletta," Capt. Robert Patterson. Powder shipped to French ports.

August. Letter of Abbé Desnoyes to Vergennes. Interview with the Pensionary about the illicit shipments of powder, etc. Opinions of the Declaration of Independence.

September. The States General called upon to act more vigorously, and a mémoire presented to that purpose. Mackintosh transmitting minute points of the Dutch Constitution to the Trans-Atlantic legislators.

October. The Pensionary orders new precautions. Answer to the English mémoire. The Dutch government issue a proclamation, which some people disregard. Terhorst intimately connected with the Philadelphia rebels. The Dutch government powerless to restrain the merchants of Amsterdam, so great are their profits. The source of difficulty is the Marine Treaty of 1674, — free ships, free goods. Commissioners of the Dutch to confer with the English ambassador. Necessity of bringing the Dutch government to a stricter discharge of their obligations to England.

November. Yorke writes: "My bastard brother ambassador, Deane, is at Amsterdam." The Amsterdamers have overstocked St. Eustatia. Alexander Foster at Amsterdam, and William Hodge at Rotterdam, the American agents.

December. English manufactures conveyed through Holland to America. Alexander Forrest was at Amsterdam. Hodge has departed. Carmichael said to be at Berlin trying to arrange a trade in tobacco. American produce comes to Amsterdam through French ports. The rebels "lose friends every day, which is the fate of those going down." The rebel trade is pouring into French and Spanish ports rather than into Dutch ports. American cruisers daily dropping into Bordeaux. Ships bringing tobacco. Rumors about Dr. Franklin.

1777. February. The Dutch governor still maintained at Eustatia after the English complaints. The Rebel flag saluted in the Dutch islands. England demands Gov. Van der Graef's recall. English cruisers directed to search all Dutch vessels going in and out of St. Eustatia for arms.

March. The English ambassador presents a memorial to the States General [it is in the Annual Register, 1777] demanding a categorical answer. It creates a stir. The loss at Trenton. Yorke calls Lee "the worst present the Americans could receive." American vessels saluted at St. Croix. Vessels from St. Eustatia bring American produce, part of it sold there by British cruisers, which had captured it. England revokes her orders respecting the seizure of Dutch ships. Goods find an American market from Rotterdam by way of Bordeaux.

April. A Dutch translation of Lind's rejoinder to the American Congress. The merchants of St. Eustatia complain of the stringent repressive measure of their governor; but Yorke believes the remonstrance originated in Amsterdam.

May. Negotiations with the Dutch government about "a piratical cruiser." Yorke's memorial to the government about the "Surprise," Capt. Cunningham, at Dunkirk, and the imprisonment of Cunningham. Lee at Berlin.

June. A ship, the "Friendship," Capt. Monro, from Charleston, S. C., arrived at Amsterdam, showing British colors, bringing two loyalists, Perroneau and Cooper, who go to London. The Brest fleet not going to sea. A communication appears in the Leyden Gazette, the joint work of Franklin, Dumas and Luzac.

July. Wickes, who took the vessels on the west coast, is said to have commanded the ship which brought Franklin to Europe. The trade of St. Eustatia and Martinico ruined by the English cruisers. Silas Deane going to Holland.

August. A plan is hinted at of the French to send ships, ostensibly to Martinico, but really to Canton, to destroy English shipping there. Captures in the West Indies. American released in the Spanish West Indies. One Tucker, a rebel, tells this to a spy of Yorke's.

September. The Amsterdamers are too powerful for the Dutch government.

October. A Surinam ship has been stopped and plundered by a rebel ship on its passage to Holland. The Amsterdam merchants granted an armed convoy for their ships bound to the West Indies.

November. The English funds rising on the news from Howe. Benjamin Sowden, a clergyman at Rotterdam, is sending tidings to Franklin in Paris. The rebel privateers unloading their cargoes into Dutch bottoms in mid ocean.

December. Dutch ships sail before the convoy is ready.

1778. January. Gov. de Graef to come home from St. Eustatia.

February. A strange ship building at Amsterdam. The Exchange at Amsterdam excited over the approaching rupture between France and England.

March. The trading towns hope their neutral position will give them large profits. The Prince of Orange warmly attached to Great Britain.

April. The question of increasing the armament of Holland. Reports of Franklin's purpose to assist France only in a commercial way. England can never permit the Dutch to be carriers of her enemies. John Adams, just arrived at Bordeaux, is made a raree-show.

May. The Dutch Gazetteers apologise for stating that Spain joined France in the alliance with America. The American agents in France communicate with the Dutch government, and it is concealed for a while from the English minister.

June. The refusal to receive an American agent in Vienna having a good effect in Holland. Yorke inserts an article on the matter in the Dutch papers. The Court of France displeased with that of Spain, and supposes the conduct of the Spanish king to arise from the influence of his confessor, the enemy of France.

July. France intriguing in Holland.

August. French privateers entering Dutch ports with prizes. The Dutch promise to prevent it in future. The Treaty of 1674 an eternal stumbling block, in its free ships, free goods. Count Byland's conduct at St. Eustatia satisfactory to England.

September. The Dutch government urged by France to make demands for Dutch vessels seized by English cruisers. "This country is running headlong into a dependence upon the Court at Versailles." Amsterdam is violent against England. England orders no Dutch ship to be seized which has no naval stores on board. France warns Holland that they cannot respect the Dutch flag if England does not.

October. Complaints against England presented to their High Mightinesses. French emissaries inciting the people in Amsterdam. The ship "Indien." The French ambassador at Amsterdam. The American agents in Paris negotiating their bonds.

1779. May. The "noted American agent, Sayer, in Amsterdam"; received openly no where but at the house of John de Neufville.

June. Four American vessels lately arrived at Amsterdam, from Boston, via Philadelphia, bringing tobacco. Strange reasons for Spain's breaking with England.

July. The French ambassador feasts the masters and passengers of nine or ten American vessels now in Amsterdam.

October. Paul Jones' fleet at Texel. Yorke asks the Prince of Orange what action the Dutch government would take. Capt. Pearson writes to Yorke, who presents a memorial to their High Mightinesses. Attempts to arrest Jones. Jones abused in Amsterdam. The French ambassador at the Hague. The Dutch being puzzled, do nothing at all. The "Serapis" waiting to be repaired. Riots and attempts to escape among Jones' prisoners. Two French cutters are anchored near Jones' ship. The Danish government restore two English ships taken by Jones and carried into Bergen. Capt. Pearson without orders. The wounded in Jones' fleet cared for.

November. Yorke presses the Dutch government and presents another memorial. Pearson fearful of being sent to France. Yorke's memorial not complied with. Jones getting ready to sail. Resolutions of the States General. Cottineau in command of Jones' squadron. The British prisoners threaten to enter the American service. Jones commands the "Alliance"; Cotti-neau the "Serapis." Jones' prisoners to be exchanged for French prisoners in England. The prisoners on board the "Scarborough" rise. Cottineau's orders, Nov. 8.

December. The French ambassador discloses that Jones has a French commission. Pearson arrived at the Hague on parole. Negotiations for exchanging prisoners concluded.

1780. February. Disagreements between France and Spain. Rebel loan in Holland fails.

May. Hopes for Clinton's success.

June. Amsterdam acting in unison with the French ambassador. The Pensionary and Prince Louis of Brunswick sworn enemies. The fall of Charleston has staggered the rebel emissaries.

July. Franklin advising the Pensionary.

August. Adams gone to Amsterdam to negotiate for money.

October. Rodney's seizure of Dutch and American vessels in the West Indies. Americans leaving St. Eustasia. Capture of Laurens. The King of Sweden thinks nothing could be more dangerous to Europe than the independence of America. Great effect of Cornwallis' victory. The papers captured with Laurens producing effects in Holland, and open people's eyes to the intrigue of Amsterdam with the rebels.

November. A pamphlet appears from the Burgomasters of Amsterdam justifying their action. Debate in the States General. The English memorial made public, and causes alarm. Amsterdam pretends that the treaty discovered through Laurens' capture was only to be operative on the English acknowledgment of American independence. The States General disapprove the act of Amsterdam. John Adams quiet, but watched.

December. The notion generally prevails that a serious quarrel with England is impossible. Yorke presents a new memorial, to which an evasive answer is given. Stormont (Dec. 16) orders Yorke to quit Holland without taking leave.

B. — In Homiletics: EDWARD HALE, D.B.

Voted, that Mr. PARKMAN's resignation be accepted in accordance with his wishes.

Voted, that the President and Fellows deeply regret the withdrawal of Mr. PARKMAN from the Board.

That they highly value the service which Mr. PARKMAN has given to the College during the thirteen years in which he has been a member of this Board, and they recognize with sincere regard the fortitude and the devotion to the interests of the University which have enabled him to perform a duty often rendered difficult and painful by the condition of his health.

MEETING OF OCTOBER 15, 1888. — Voted, that the following be adopted as one of the standing rules and orders of the President and Fellows and the Board of Overseers: —

"A Committee for the regulation of Athletic sports shall hereafter be annually appointed and chosen as follows: three members of the College Faculty and three graduates of the College, — these six to be appointed by the Corporation with the consent of the Overseers; and also three undergraduates to be chosen during the first week of the College year by the majority vote of the following students: the Presidents of the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes and a representative from each of the following Athletic organizations, the Boat Club, the Cricket Club, and the Athletic, Base-ball, Foot-ball, Lacrosse, and Tennis Associations, who shall be called together for the purpose of making this choice by the President of the University.

"This Committee shall have entire supervision and control of all athletic exercises within and without the precincts of the University, subject to the authority of the Faculty of the College, as defined by the Statutes."

Voted, that the Faculty and Committee be informed that the Corporation and Board of Overseers are of opinion that further restrictions should be placed upon inter-collegiate contests, in regard to the places where and the days when they shall be played, and the teams that shall take part therein.

The Treasurer reported a gift of $150 from Dr. ASA GRAY to the Herbarium, for current expenses during the last academic year, and the same was gratefully accepted.

Voted, to reappoint ARTHUR BLISS SEYMOUR, S.M., Assistant in the Cryptogamic Herbarium for 1888-89.

Voted, to appoint AMOS LAWRENCE MASON, M.D., Instructor in Clinical Medicine for 1888-89.

Voted, to appoint the following Assistants for 1888-89: CHARLES POMEROY WORCESTER, M.D., in Chemistry; CHARLES FRANCIS WITHINGTON, M.D., in Clinical Medicine; EDWARD MARSHALL BUCKINGHAM, M.D., in Diseases of Children.

Voted, that the President be requested to communicate to the Board of Overseers at their adjourned meeting of October 17, 1888, the resignation of FRANCIS PARKMAN as a Fellow of the Corporation and to ask that the President and Fellows may have the consent of the Overseers to proceed to the election of a Fellow in his place.

MEETING OF OCTOBER 17, 1888. — The consent of the Board of Overseers having been obtained, Voted, to proceed to the election of a Fellow of the Corporation in place of FRANCIS PARKMAN, resigned; whereupon, a ballot being had, it appeared that FREDERICK LOTHROP AMES was chosen.

Voted, to communicate this election to the Board of Overseers, that they may consent thereto if they see fit.

Voted, to appoint JOSEPH LOVERING, LL.D., Hollis Professor of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, Emeritus, in consideration of his many valuable services to the College during the past fifty-two years.

Voted, to appoint the following Committee on the Regulation of Athletic Sports: three members of the Faculty, — Professor CHARLES F. DUNBAR; Professor WILLIAM E. BYERLY; Assistant Professor ALBERT B. HART. Three graduates, — HENRY P. WALCOTT, M.D.; WILLIAM HOOPER, A.B.; GEORGE B. MORRISON, A.B.

MEETING OF OCTOBER 29, 1888. — The Treasurer reported that he had received the third instalment of $5000 on account of Mr. HENRY VILLARD's subscription towards the Law School Book Fund, and the same was gratefully accepted.

The Treasurer reported that he had received from the estate of Mrs. GURNEY the additional sum of $11,318.14 for the GURNEY Fund, this being the final payment.

On recommendation of Professor COOKE it was Voted, that hereafter every student of the Summer School in Chemistry be charged $10 for material, instead of $5 as heretofore, and that the required deposit for breakage be increased from $10 to $15.

Voted, to appoint JAMES RIGNALL WHEELER, Ph.D., Instructor in Greek and Latin for 1888-89.

Voted, to appoint FRANK WALTER NICOLSON, A.M., Instructor in Sanscrit for 1888-89.

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 12, 1888. — The Treasurer reported a gift from Miss ELLEN MASON, received through Professor LYON, of six inscribed Babylonian clay tablets, and it was Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows thereof be sent to Miss MASON.

Voted, to appoint BENJAMIN MARSTON WATSON, A.B., Instructor in Horticulture.

Voted, to reappoint NATHANIEL THAYER KIDDER, B.A.S., Instructor in Botany for 1888-89.

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 26, 1888. — Voted, that the thanks of the President and Fellows be sent to Mrs. HENRY DRAPER of New York for her additional gift of $1000, received through Professor PICKERING November 17, 1888, towards the expenses at the Observatory of Harvard University, on account of the DRAPER Memorial.

Voted, that hereafter all the laboratory fees collected from students of Physics shall be at the disposal of the Director of the Jefferson Physical Laboratory.

Voted, that the additional gift of $150 from ROBERT N. TOPPAN, Esq., for a prize in Political Science, be gratefully accepted, and that the Treasurer be requested to make suitable acknowledgment therefor.

Voted, to change the title of the Assistant Professorship now held by Dr. F. H. WILLIAMS from that of "Materia Medica and Therapeutics" to that of "Therapeutics."

MEETING OF DECEMBER 10, 1888. — Voted, to grant the request of Professor W. W. GOODWIN for leave of absence for the academic year 1889-90, in accordance with the rules established by this Board May 31, 1880.

MEETING OF DECEMBER 24, 1888. — The Treasurer reported that the sum of $200 had been received through Professor BYERLY for the purchase of books for the Mathematical Department Library, and the same was gratefully accepted.

The resignation of HENRY PREBLE as Assistant Professor was accepted as of December 14, 1888.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

HARVARD NECROLOGY.

Compiled by WILLIAM HOPKINS TILLINGHAST,

Assistant Librarian,

Editor of the Quinquennial Catalogue.

*.* Graduates and Class Secretaries are requested to send to the writer class reports, both new and old, and all newspapers which contain obituaries and other notices of Harvard alumni. It is important to have the places of birth and death, and, in addition to the year, to have the month and day of the month.

When the place of birth or death is unknown, the place of residence at the time of entering College or of decease, if known, is given within brackets.

The figures denoting age indicate the last completed year of life.

Graduates.

In the last issue of the Bulletin it was stated that Mr. William Winthrop Allen, of the class of 1817, had become senior alumnus. Mr. Allen's life was extremely sad; he had barely entered the ministry, after graduation, when he fell a victim to melancholia, and soon became insane, remaining in that condition until his death, 2 November, 1888, in his ninety-fourth year. He had for some time been the oldest living graduate of the Divinity School. Mr. Samuel Edmund Sewall, of the same class, who then became senior alumnus, had been for some years the oldest living graduate of the Law School; his active practice of the law had extended through sixty-seven years, when he died, in his ninetieth year, 20 December, 1888. Thus the only surviving member of the class of 1817, Hon. George Bancroft, becomes senior alumnus. Although first in College seniority, Mr. Bancroft, who was born 3 October, 1800, is younger than three living members of the class of 1818: Mr. Sidney Bartlett, born 13 February, 1799; Rev. William Goddard, born 12 September, 1800; Rev. Frederic A. Farley, born 25 June, 1800. Mr. Brinley, the fourth surviving member, and the Secretary of 1818, was born 10 November, 1800.

The portrait here reproduced by an etching is a miniature in the Riccardi codex 1040. It was considered by Gaet. Milanesi and Luigi Passerini, who were appointed by the Italian government in 1865 to investigate and pass judgment on the various portraits of Dante, to be the most authentic of all, and it was copied by Giov. Dupré for the commemorative medal struck at that time, but remained inédite and comparatively unknown until it was published in the second edition of Italice da Ricaldone's comment issued by Hoepli in 1889. The plate given here is the same as that published by Hoepli. In an appendix the official reports of Milanesi and Passerini are reprinted.

"Correspondence of Charles W. F. Dumas, official agent for the United States in Holland during the Revolution. Copied from the originals in the Department of State."

This correspondence is in French. It begins with a letter, Philadelphia, June 24, 1777, addressed to Committee of Secret Correspondence. Copies of some of Dumas' letters to Franklin are included. Other documents are occasionally introduced, such as Mémoires, presented Sept. 7 and Dec. 7, 1778, by the French ambassador to the States General; his despatches to the American agents in Paris; papers resulting from the discovery of the league of Amsterdam with the Americans. The later letters are addressed to Livingston, Secretary of Foreign Affairs. Memorial sent by Dumas to Russia and Sweden. The last letter is June 23, 1783.

LXXV.

Letters, Memoirs, and Considerations on the American War, 1778-1780. By M. [Jean Louis] Favier. Copied from the originals in the Archives des Affaires Etrangères, Paris, 1831.

"Correspondence of the King of Prussia, Frederick the Great, with his ambassadors in London and Paris, on American affairs, 1776. Preceded by Mr. Wheaton's correspondence with Baron Bülow. These copies were procured for me from the public offices in Berlin by Mr. Wheaton, the American minister at that Court, 1844."

Wheaton's letter to Bülow is dated at Berlin, Oct. 16, 1843, and the copy was sent to Mr. Sparks with one from Wheaton, Oct. 20, setting forth the difficulty of access to the Archives on the strength of Raumer's experience. Bülow's reply is dated Nov. 2, granting permission. Wheaton in transmitting it to Sparks (Apr. 10, 1844) says that he has sent "all they have thought fit to impart from the Prussian Archives relating to American Revolutionary Affairs," and he speaks of "the expression of the personal opinion of the great King as to the conduct of his royal brother of England towards the Colonies," adding that "this they have probably withheld from excessive delicacy."

Mémoire respecting the views of Frederick on American affairs. Schulenberg to the King, Nov. 30, 1776. The King to Baron de Goltz, Dec. 2, 1776. De Goltz to the King, Apr. 24, 1777. "Manuscript French Papers on the American Revolution." "This volume consists of papers selected by me in the Archives de la Guerre, and the Archives des Affaires Etrangères, in Paris, 1828," "relating to the diplomatic intercourse between France and the United States during the American Revolution."

1. "From the Archives de la Guerre." Letters of Baron de Kalb, from America, 1768, etc.

"Dialogue entre le Maréchal de Saxe et le Baron de Dieskau aux Champs Elysées" (p. 9). [This is translated in N. Y. Col. Doc. x., 340.]

Mr. Sparks adds: "This account of Dieskau's defeat appears to have been written by himself after his return to France. It is deposited among the Canada papers in the Dépôt de la Guerre. From New York Dieskau was taken a prisoner to England. He lived sometime at Bath before he was entirely recovered of his wounds. He was exchanged at the peace of 1763 and returned to France. Our American histories commonly say that he was mortally wounded and died soon after the battle, which is a mistake."

"Relation du Combat du 9 Juillet, 1755." Letters of Dieskau. "Relation depuis le départ des troupes de Quebec, quoiqu'au 30 du mois de Septembre, 1755" (p. 16). Lotbinière from Ticonderoga, Oct. 23, 1755. Notes on the campaigns of 1755, '56, '57, '58.

2. "Correspondence of Count de Rochambeau. Copied from the originals in the Département de la Guerre, Paris, 1828."

Instructions to Rochambeau (p. 28) and secret instructions. Other instructions to the French officers. Letters to and from Rochambeau, 1780, 1781, 1782.

3. "The following papers were selected and transcribed by me from more than thirty volumes of manuscripts in the Archives des Affaires Etrangères in Paris, during the summer and autumn of 1828. All the manuscripts here mentioned relate to the American Revolution. General Lafayette and the Marquis de Marbois assisted me in obtaining from the government the permission to examine these papers, which was represented as a special favor. A cross (+) in the margin indicates that the paragraph is a literal translation. In the margin G. stands for Gérard; C. V. for Count de Vergennes; L. for Luzerne, — thus G. + C. V. means from Gérard to Vergennes; C. V. + L. from Vergennes to Luzerne, and so of others." Letter of Ferronnays to Marbois, respecting Mr. Sparks's request. "The parts of the leaves which are missing were cut out by the person appointed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs to examine my papers before they were taken from the Archives."

Translation of an extract of Pfeffel's Memoirs (p. 56). "See the whole of Pfeffel's Memoir in my French manuscripts, vol. i. p. 98."

Inducements for France to form an alliance with America.

Letters of Silas Deane. Outlines of a treaty between France, Spain, and the United States, drawn by Deane. Answer of the King to the American Commissioners' request for aid. Reflections on the American Colonies (Jan. 7, 1777).

Memoir in the handwriting of Silas Deane, but not signed by any person. Apr. 12, 1777 (p. 71) (copy).

Lafayette to Vergennes, Whitemarsh, Oct. 24, 1777, respecting an enterprise to the East Indies.

Proposals to set aside land in America, as security for the payment of foreign loans, — in the handwriting of Silas Deane (copy).

Anonymous letter from London, Dec. 19, 1777, to Dr. Bancroft, concerning a proposed treaty with the United States, in the handwriting of Gérard (copy).

Remarks of Lauzun, Dec. 15, 1777, on the affairs of America, and the course to be pursued by France.

Franklin to Hutton, relative to a proposition for peace with England (1778). Various letters of Franklin and Deane.

Proposition to Franklin for a treaty with England and Franklin's answer (July, 1778).

Account of Gérard's arrival in Philadelphia. Letters of Gérard. His remarks in the American Congress. Plans (Sept. 12) of coöperation with D'Estaing. Beaumarchais's supplies. Gérard's character of John Jay. Letters to Gérard. His letters on Florida and the Mississippi country. Truce proposed by the mediation of Spain, Feb. 1779. Gérard on the boundaries and fisheries, Mar. 1779. Plans for peace. Various letters from Gérard, largely upon the fisheries, the boundaries, and the Mississippi valley. Vergennes on the Alleghanies as boundaries. Relations with Spain. Luzerne's reception in Boston. Letters from Luzerne, 1780. Military instructions to Lafayette, Mar. 5, 1780, with additional instructions, Mar. 5. Luzerne and Lafayette. Dr. Franklin, June 24, 1780, on project of attack on the west of England. Luzerne, June, 1784, on the contemplation of a separate government by England in Carolina. Franklin to Vergennes, July 10, 1780, — the same printed in Dipl. Corresp. iii. 1780. Adams's correspondence with Vergennes, 1780. Vergennes to Lafayette, Aug. 7, 1780, on the capture of Charleston, S. C. Luzerne on the news of Izard, respecting the aid rendered by France. Ternay on the arrival of the French squadron at Rhode Island. Mme. Lafayette to Vergennes concerning Laurens (printed in Dipl. Corresp. iii.). Marbois, Oct. 1780, on the new instructions to Jay. Vergennes to Ternay, Dec. 1780, respecting military operations in America. Letter to Luzerne on Franklin and on Izard's intermeddling. Letter to Luzerne, Feb. 15, 1781, on money lent to the United States. Jay's instructions regarding Spain, etc. To Luzerne, Mar. 1781, plan of a mediation through Russia and Austria. Luzerne on parties in Congress. To Luzerne, Apr. 1781, on loans and mediation. The volume closes with a letter in French, Paris, le 14 Oct. 1822, to the Comte d'Hauterive, signed by Mr. Sparks, who appends this memorandum: "The preceding letter is the copy of one which I signed on taking the papers from the Archives des Affaires Etrangères in Paris. But I do not consider it, nor did I consider it at the time, as a promise on my part to refrain from publishing any of those materials which may be requisite to illustrate the history of the events to which they relate. It is intended rather as an act of courtesy to Count d'Hauterive, and a pledge on my part that I will not make any use of the papers which will compromise the keeper of the Archives, or any person connected with that department. Paris, Dec. 15, 1828."

*.* Only the more important papers are above noted.

LXXXIV.

Copies of Letters from Lafayette to Washington, and to other persons, during the American Revolution. Sent to me by Lafayette, 1829.

The first paper is followed by the following note in Mr. Sparks's handwriting. "The above remarks were dictated by General Lafayette in the year 1829, when this volume was copied under his eye, and from the originals in his hands.

"Translation of extracts from Lafayette's letter to me.

"The letters contained in this volume have been copied from the originals. They contain many faults of the copyist, which Mr. Sparks will be able to rectify by the other papers in his hands and by his own judgment; but there are likewise many faults of language, since Lafayette could only learn English progressively. . . . There will be found also the names of informers who communicated intelligence of the enemy. It is superfluous to say that all such names ought to be left blank, or with only the initials. These persons or their children may yet be found under English influence."

Mr. Sparks adds: "It must be remembered that when Lafayette came to this country he was but twenty years old and was not acquainted with the English language. He told me that he applied himself to the language on the voyage, and made such progress as he could. But he had afterwards little time for a regular and classical study of English. Circumstances required him to write the language very soon, and before he could pretend to a knowledge of it. These facts explain the constant and sometimes extreme inaccuracies of style which occur throughout this volume."

Lafayette's letters to Major-General Sullivan and to Major-General Baron de Steuben.

Those to Sullivan bear dates Bristol, 8 o'clock P.M.; Whitemarsh, Nov. 1; Saybrook, July 28, 1778; Aug. 1; Rhode Island, Aug. 24; Sept. 4; Bristol, Sept. 5; Warren, Sept. 23; Boston, Sept. 28.

Those to Steuben:—

Morristown, Feb. 24, 1781; Philadelphia, Feb. 26; Head of Elk, Mar. 3; York, 14th; Annapolis, Apr. 4; Fredericksburg, Apr. 25; Bowling Green Tavern, Apr. 27; Osborn's, May 10; Milton, May 17; Gold Mine Creek, May 29; Mataponi Church, June 3; Mechunck Creek, June 13; June 15; Col. Dandridge's house, June 18; June 22; Head-Quarters, July 10; July 12; Malvern Hill, July 23; Head-Quarters, July 25; Richmond, Aug. 3; Pomunky, Aug. 9; Montock Hill, Aug. 13.

Letters to Washington: Morristown, Jan. 7, 1781; Pompton, Feb. 23; Morristown, Feb. 24, 25; Philadelphia, Mar. 2; Elk, Mar. 3 [this letter refers to the power given to him to open letters, and on the copy. in Lafayette's handwriting, is this endorsement: "This was a most flattering mark of confidence; having been empowered to open not only public but private letters"]; Mar. 7, 8; York, Mar. 15; Williamsburg, Mar. 23, 25, 26; Elk, Apr. 8, 10, 11, 12; Susquehanna Ferry, Apr. 13, 14; Baltimore, Apr. 18.

[Upon this last copy Lafayette endorses in his own handwriting: "Note. Some details have been given elsewhere relative to the admirable conduct of the Light Infantry, forming the corps sent to Virginia, under circumstances the most deplorable. Since the day when they were officially apprised, they had great difficulties and dangers to encounter, and a superior enemy to combat. Not one instance of desertion took place; and although a want of harmony between them and the southern people had been anticipated, they and the Virginia militia lived together in perfect mutual amity and confidence. They also lived on the best terms with the Pennsylvanians, when they had joined the army."]

Alexandria, Apr. 23; Bottom's Creek, May 4 [Lafayette in his own hand annotates this letter thus: "The Pennsylvanians were the soldiers who had lately revolted. There was a sort of enmity between them and the New England troops. The former were mostly Irish. But no difficulty of the kind took place. They lived in perfect harmony during the campaign."] Richmond, May 8; Camp Wilton on James River, May 17, 18; Richmond, May 24; Camp between Rappahannock and North Anna, June 3; Brock's Bridge, June 16; Allen's Creek, June 18 [this letter is endorsed in Lafayette's handwriting respecting Steuben: "We must be tender of the good Baron's fame; and if a publication takes place, give an extract rather than a full length letter, saying only that in a private letter I expressed dissatisfaction]; June 28; July 8; Malvern Hill, July 20, 26, 30, 31; Aug. 1; Pamunkey, Aug. 6; New Kent Mountains, Aug. 11; Forks of York River, Aug. 21; Mattaponi, Aug. 24; Williamsburg, Sept. 8, 10; Before Yorktown, Sept. 30; Oct. 16; Nov. 29; Frigate "Alliance," off Boston, Dec. 21.

Correspondence of Count Florida de Blanca and Lafayette, Feb. 1783.
